Jury Begins Deliberating Mattox Case

Second Murder Trial Ends After Final Arguments

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP) — The second murder trial of 21-year-old Jon Mattox went to the jury Friday and the jurors were locked up for the night.

A verdict, if reached during the night, would not be announced until 9 a.m. Saturday.

Closing arguments lasted nearly four hours, with each side taking about two hours to sum up its case.

EXPRESSES FEARS

Prosecutor Bill Burgin said if Mattox were freed, he feared for the life of Sarah Grayson, the state's star witness in both trials.

"I wouldn't give you a plug nickel ... or a silver dollar" for her life, said Burgin, if Mattox went free.

Dist. Atty. Harvey Buck charged Mattox was guilty of the "tragic, brutal murder" of Mrs. Gene Cain Tate.

He said Mattox "just couldn't stand it, couldn't take it" after Mrs. Tate broke off an affair with him.

Defense attorney Luther Sims branded Miss Grayson a "talking machine" who would "do anything in the world" because she couldn't fulfill her romantic interest with Mattox.

Mattox was charged with the Jan. 31, 1960 coat hanger strangulation of 31-year-old Mrs. Tate, a Columbus socialite and mother of four children. She lived next door to Mattox.

A jury convicted the former Mississippi State University student last year, but the State Supreme Court tossed out the conviction and the sentence because [illegible]

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Tony Bettenhausen, 44, racing veteran and idol of auto speed fans on the American Professional circuit, died Friday in the violent, fiery crash of a car he was testing for a friend. The crash ended Bettenhausen's 23-year racing career.

Something broke and threw the hurtling racing car into the wall along the main straightaway at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, where trials began Saturday for the Indianapolis 500 on Memorial day.

29TH WRECK

It was the 29th racing wreck —and the last—for Bettenhausen, two-time champion of the AAA (now USAC) big car circuit. The father of two boys and two girls was dead when guards fought their way through screaming, horrified fans to where the shattered car hung wrapped in wire atop the wall.

The impact ripped away 250 feet of fence.

Bettenhausen had turned several laps at 145 miles an hour in the car in which Rodger Ward won the 1959 Indianapolis 500. He was checking it for Paul Russo, an old friend with whom he took turns driving the car that finished second in the 1955 Memorial Day classic.

Civil service records covering the month ending April 30th listed "part time inspectors" drawing $120 per month.

Hightower's son, wives of legislators, relatives of legislators, and former legislators as well as other former public officials are on the payroll — some drawing $420 per month.

Civil service officials emphasized, however that the "inspectors" qualified for the jobs after taking the examinations offered by the civil service.

A jury convicted the former Mississippi State University student last year, but the State Supreme Court tossed out the conviction and life sentence because of a court error.

Buck said the defense "had almost a year to produce someone that could refute Miss Grayson's testimony, and yet they didn't do it."

Miss Grayson, who was a student at MSU at the time of the slaying, testified at both trials Mattox told her he had been intimate with a married women but she rejected him.

She said Mattox told her the woman wronged him and he was going to kill her. She said a scarf found twisted around Mrs. Tate's neck was one she had left in Matto's car.

Mattox denied strangling Mrs. Tate on a Sunday morning while her husband and children were at church.

Marcello Case Sent Back To District Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—A three-judge federal court ruled Friday there is no substantial constitutional question involved in the recent deportation of Carlos Marcello, New Orleans rackets figure, to Guatemela.

As a result of this ruling, the three-judge court was dissolved and the case sent back to U.S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff who will hear all other issues involved.

Other judges on the three-judge court were U.S. Appeals Court Judge John A. Danaher, and U.S. District Judge Edward M. Curran.

The three-judge court was convened by Holtzoff after Marcello's attorneys contended that deportation was cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the 8th amendment.

Holtzoff set no date immediately to hear the other issues involved but indicated he would open the hearing soon.

Marcello was forcibly deported to Guatemala by immigration officials on April 3. They had tried to get him out of the country for 15 years or more as the result of a 1938 violation of the federal marijuana act.

JFK, Johnson To Be On Tours

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's trip to Canada next week, with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson away on a goodwill tour, will put this countrys two top leaders outside its borders.

Who's going to mind the store?

Kennedy, of course, will remain in close contact with Washington while he's in Canada May 16-18.

Johnson left May 9 on a trip to Southeast Asia and around the world and isn't expected back until about May 24.

BATON ROUGE — Director Fred Hightower Sr. of Monroe has cut the payroll of the state licensing board of contractors from 86 to 50 employes, but the records disclosed Friday that the "inspectors" received civil service raises ranging from $20 to $170 monthly.

Civil service records covering the month ending April 30th showed "part time inspectors" drawing $320 per month.

Civil service officials emphasized, however that the "inspectors" qualified for the jobs after taking examinations offered by the civil service.

CIVIL SERVICE

Under the law, the "inspectors" were awarded pay raises under civil service regulations when the board's employment was ruled by the courts as a civil service jurisdiction.

Northeast Louisiana parishes with "inspectors" are Ouachita, two; Jackson, the most with four; East Carroll, two; and one each in LaSalle, Morehouse, Union, Catahoula and Winn.

Hightower's son, Jerome Hightower of Monroe, is on the payroll as a $320 per month "inspector," raised from $250 per month. A Monroe businessman, Billy Edmondson, is drawing $320 monthly as an "inspector."

Other "inspectors" from the Monroe area include W. McFarland Long, a former sheriff of East Carroll parish, $420 per month, up from $400, and James H. Perry, airport manager at Bastrop, $320 monthly, up from $300.

In addition, Rep. P. K. Smith's brother, Henry H. Smith Jr., from Winnfield is drawing $320 per month now, a $20 monthly raise.

Powerful New Atlas Missile Firing Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Air Force successfully fired an Atlas missile 5,000 miles Friday night and demonstrated it apparently has solved problems which have plagued a new, more powerful version of the intercontinental-range weapon.

The 85-foot rocket blazed smoothly away from this spaceport and barrelled at peak speed of more than 17,000 miles an hour to an intended impact area north of the South Atlantic island of Ascension.

The Air Force reported the Atlas met all test objectives on the 25-minute flight.

The success was only the second in seven launchings for the improved Atlas "E" model, which is designed for greater range and heavier payload than the operational "D" rockets now on launching pads in California, Wyoming and Nebraska.

Most previous failures of the E Atlas were traced to a faulty hydraulics system. The system was corrected for the last flight on March 24 and worked as planned, but failure of the booster engines to jettison caused the missile to cover only half of its intended 9,000-mile route.

Centenarian Offers Long Life Advice

NEW YORK (AP) — Old Abraham, looking about as ancient as the Biblical patriarch himself, came back Friday from a visit to Israel, the land of his birth, and offered a prescription for a long, healthy life.

"I live according to the laws of God and nature," said Joseph B.J. Abraham. He rapped the floor with his cane. "I do not drink or smoke."

The bearded, much-married centenarian, who says he is more than 102 years old, arrived on the American Export liner Atlantic, accompanied by his 12th wife, Sarah.

Like the Sarah who was wife to the Old Testament Abraham, she is considerably younger than her husband — 43.

But he could boast a progeny that far exceeded that of the long-childless Abraham of old. Sixty-five children, he said, are "claimed to me."

He said he was first married at 23, and his days have been fruitful with children ever since.

"I don't keep a list," he said. "My wife does. My oldest son is 79 years old."

Born in Jaffa, Palestine, in the 1850s, Abraham said he also has a home in Miami, Fla., and was married there last year to his present wife, the former Mary Jane Sarah White, Muskogee, Okla.

"It was love at first sight," said Mrs. Abraham, who was a widow at the time. "He's a very wonderful man."

He said he first came to this country about 55 years ago. He carried an international driver's license, entitling him to drive abroad, issued last Feb. 7 in Philadelphia by the American Automobile Association.

Algerian Riot Forces Alerted

ALGIERS (AP) — European extremists threatened Algiers with riots and possible bloodshed Saturday in a new stand against Algerian independence. Word-of-mouth orders for strikes and demonstrations came from the underground secret army organization, the main settler resistance group.

The call came on the eve of the third anniversary of the coup d'etat which led to the fall of the Fourth French Republic. It also came just a week before France and the Algerian Moslem rebels are scheduled to open talks aimed at giving Algeria independence.

French headquarters for Algeria, visibly shaken at the prospect of more disorders in this troubled city, warned that soldiers would fire on agitators. At least 20,000 troops, riot police and gendarmes, backed by armored vehicles, were alerted.

Parish TB Group Sues For Cooley

The Ouachita Parish Tuberculosis Association Inc. filed a lawsuit Friday against the Police Jury, asking that Fourth District Court declare the association full owner of G. B. Cooley Sanitorium.

The lawsuit also asks the courts to remove the restrictions which say that the sanitorium may be used only for tubercular patients.

When contacted last night, Jury President M. W. Montgomery said that whatever action the parish takes "will be up to District Attorney Albin P. Lassiter."

WOULD SUPPORT

"I'm willing to turn it (the sanitorium) over to them if they let the retarded children use it. That's the only ground on which I wouldn't fight it," Montgomery added.

The Ouachita Association for Retarded Children has asked both the association and the police jury for permission to use the property as an institution to care for several hundred local retarded children.

Lassiter is withholding comment until the suit is served on him.

"I can't say what I'll do until I get the petition, study it and figure out which direction to take," he said.

He expects to be served with the papers this weekend.

The lawsuit, filed with the Ouachita clerk of court, names the police jury, Mrs. Lynn Bell Kugler, and Jack P. F. Gremillion.

Federal Probe Of Vice Arrest Case Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department Friday ordered an investigation into the vice arrest of George Ratterman, former football player and reform candidate for sheriff in Campbell County, Ky.

Ratterman, arrested early Tuesday in a hotel room with a woman, has contended that he was drugged and that police tore off his trousers. He said he didn't know the woman was in the room until he was aroused by the entry of police.

The Justice Department gave no official reason for the investigation, but an informed source said it was called to determine if Newport, Ky., police "knowingly participated in the use of framed evidence."

The source said the investigation was ordered to determine if Ratterman had been denied due process of law as guaranteed by the Civil Rights Act of 1870.

Ratterman has been charged with breach of peace, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest, and his case is scheduled for a hearing in police court next Tuesday. The former professional football star is an investment counselor and the father of eight.

Dist. Judge Christian D. Stoner denied a new trial motion, but ordered Corbett held for an additional 10 days in the county jail to give his attorneys an opportunity to file a motion requesting a free transcript of the trial.

The attorneys have six months to file an appeal motion in the Colorado Supreme Court.

Rusk, Soviet To Meet On Laos Issue

GENEVA (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk decided early Saturday to meet Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko face to face to see if they could solve the issue of who should speak for the Laotian people at the East-West conference on Laos.

Wrangling over the Soviet Union's insistence that the pro-Communist Pathet Lao be given full status as a government at the conference table prevented the 14-nation meeting from getting under way Friday as planned.

SUGGESTIONS

There were suggestions among the big Western delegations that perhaps it would be better not to hold the conference at all.

Rusk's decision to meet Gromyko became known following a dinner party arranged by Lord Home, British foreign secretary.

Lord Home also made plans to see Gromyko.

The outcome may determine whether the conference, called according to both sides to seek means of making Laos a peaceful and neutral nation, eventually gets started or not.

Rusk has firmly rejected the seating of the Pathet Lao faction with full governmental status. Not even the Soviet Union has recognized it as a government but wants it seated with equality with the pro-Western government of Premier Prince Boun Oum.

Fighting to keep the Communist camp from winning a strategic edge in the jump-off stage at the bargaining table, Rusk advanced two firm demands that prevented the conference from opening Friday as scheduled.

First, Rusk insisted there could be no conference unless there was certification from the three-nation International Control Com-

Three Indicted In Chicago For Election Fraud

CHICAGO (UPI) — A Cook County grand jury indicted a Chicago Democratic precinct captain and two assistants Friday on charges of vote fraud in the November presidential election.

The indictments were returned against Sam Jantelezio, a party precinct captain who works for the city bureau of electricity; and two assistants, Thomas Compobasso, Park District truck driver, and Michael Gibellina, a bureau of forestry employe.

The three men are Democratic leaders in the 38th precinct, 28th ward.

They were named in an 8-count indictment which charged them with altering and defacing ballots, inducing election judges to make false certificates, delaying judges, counseling judges and 4 counts of conspiracy.

They were the first indictments returned in what Republicans have charged was a major Chicago vote scandal.

Contractor's 'Breather' Plan Lands Him In Jail

PATCHOGUE, N.Y. (AP) — All Atillo Santore had was a piece of paper, but he just couldn't stop showing it.

He said he started to get a breathing spell from his creditors but then it "got to snowballing."

"I didn't know how to stop," police quoted him.

He ordered three Thunderbirds, three Oldsmobiles, three Cadillacs with air-conditioning and special colors, a 26-foot cabin cruiser, a 24-foot cabin cruiser and then he started thinking about taking a world cruise.

So he asked three different travel agencies to arrange 1½-year cruises, with two-week stopovers in most countries. Such a cruise would come to around $70,000. And then he told one agency to engage a tutor — at $10,000 a year — for his three youngsters.

Now Santoro, 47, a contractor at nearby Shoreham, is behind bars, serving a 30-day sentence for disorderly conduct. And salesmen all over Long Island are weeping for lost commissions.

Santoro's piece of paper said he was worth $687,998. But as a matter of fact Santoro is in debt — about as much in debt as the average man, Sgt. Robert McCleary of the Suffolk County police estimates.

McCleary says Santoro's trouble started with the heavy winter snows. That slowed up Santoro's contracting business and he began worrying about the mortgage on his car and on his home.

Santoro told McCleary that when things piled up on him he decided his creditors wouldn't press him if it got out that he was rich.

So he snitched a letterhead while applying for a small loan at the Suffolk County Federal Savings & Loan Association, he said, and on it he wrote a credit letter, making out he had that $687,998 on deposit with the association.

Using that, he started ordering things to build up his credit. It certainly worked. McCleary says Santoro's rating soared so fast during a three-week period that several business firms wanted him to invest. One firm told McCleary it would have been de-

Pair Facing Prison For N.O. Slaying

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sentences of [illegible] to 21 years were pending [illegible] against a restaurant cook and a former policeman convicted of manslaughter in the slaying of B. Ray Scheuering, manager [illegible]

A 12-man jury Thursday night found Donald Glowacki, the cook, and Norbert Hoeghorst guilty of the [illegible] of Scheuering. [illegible] Judge J. Bernard Cocke did not set a date for sentencing.

The state had asked for a murder conviction, which carried an automatic death penalty.

Scheuering was shot moments after Hoeghorst and Glowacki stopped his car on the New Orleans Expressway.

Hoeghorst testified he was struggling with a passenger in Scheuering's car when he pulled a .38 caliber revolver, which fired.

Glowacki, who did not testify, said earlier he had a .22 caliber gun in his hand [illegible] fired, wounding himself in the leg.

Asst. Dist. Atty. J. D. McNeil contended Hoeghorst had the .22 caliber derringer and Glowacki had the .38 caliber gun, a policeman's service revolver.

McNeil claimed it was the .38 which killed Scheuering, but it made no difference who actually fired the shot because under the law both were equally guilty.

FBI technicians testified that Scheuering was killed with the .33 and Glowacki was wounded by the derringer fired at a distance of more than 4 ½ feet.

Hoeghorst testified he stopped the Scheuering car because it passed too close to his own auto, and that he thought young people driving under the influence of alcohol were driving it.

McNeil contended the two meant to shake down the people in Scheuering's car or to inflict bodily harm on them.

Floods Keep Pressure On Many Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Record Midwest floods kept relentless pressure on dozens of communities in southern Illinois and Indiana, but receding waters cheered other drowned sections of a six-state area.

The backwaters kept thousands of lowland dwellers dispossessed, and new damage was threated as big earthen levees grew soggier. Many highways still were blocked by water.

The situation of Carmi, on the Little Wabash River in southeastern Illinois, remained critical as rising water reached 21.3 feet above flood level there. More than one-third of the 6,200 residents were evacuated by National Guard troops. The rise, possibly another half a foot, was expected to continue until Saturday noon.

The Big Muddy River reached crest at 22.5 feet above flood stage at Murphysboro Friday as backwater rose against a breastwork of 6,000 sandbags protecting the power plant and surrounded the waterworks of the southwestern Illinois city of 8,000.

The flood still covered tens of thousands of acres of farmlands. White County, where Carmi is situated, was reported 40 per cent under water.

The weather over the flooded region, including parts of Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas, was fair and warm — a heartening sign. Most of the nation had clear skies, but locally heavy rains fell in the East, and there was precipitation in the Northwest.

Rainfall around the headwaters of the New River in northwestern North Carolina and southwestern Virginia ranged from 2 to 4 inches, portending an added load for the Ohio River which might slow runoff in the stricken Indiana-Illinois area.

The Ohio's crest nearly 9 feet above flood level at Tell City, Ind., was expected to bring a crest at Cairo, Ill., Monday some 11 feet above flood stage. The Ohio flows into the Mississippi at Cairo.

High levels of the Ohio and the Middle Mississippi were not menacing for dwellers along their banks, but held a stopper for the overflowed tributaries. The Mississippi, 4 to 5 feet above flood stage below Cairo, was expected to go up another three feet next week. Upstream, it was near crest at Chester, Ill., 7.2 feet above the flood mark.

In Missouri, the Meramec, still 9 to 11 feet over flood below Pacific, was falling substantially. The Sangamon, in central Illinois was expected to overflow 3 feet at Petersburg Sunday.

The Kaskaskia River, at crest 3.5 feet above overflow near Shelbyville, Ill., was 10.4 over flood at New Athens, Ill., with a few more inches of rise expected.

The Osage River, from Schell City to Osceola, Mo., was 13 to 15 feet out of its banks with another week of flooding in prospect. The Verdigris was 10 feet above flood stage, but falling from Claremore to Inola, Okla. The swollen Arkansas river was receding.

Gen. White Gives Views On Bombers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, has warned against a Maginot Line defense built solely on missiles. He said abandonment of the manned bomber could be fatal to the United States.

"I forecast, from a solemn point of responsibility upon me and a reading of history which I think need not be very deep, that the future is very likely to depend on something like the B70," White asserted.

His warning, contained in heavily-censored closed-door testimony published by the Houe Armed Services Committee, came in support of recommendations by both House and Senate armed services groups against moving too fast from bomber strength into reliance on missiles.

White appeared before the House Committee on March 20 and March 24.

Both committees have approved legislation authorizing continued production of B52 and B58 bombers, now scheduled to halt next year. White also urged bigger appropriations for faster development of the B70 bomber. Top officials now are weighing this question.

His Maginot Line remark referred to the elaborate French system of fortifications which the Nazis bypassed in their World War II drive on Paris.

Navy Reports Carrier Not Near Santiago

WASHINGTON (AP)—The commander of the Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba reported to U. S. Navy headquarters Friday that no U. S. aircraft carrier "known to this command was in the vicinity of Santiago this morning."

The Navy received this message from Rear Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell after Havana radio said an American aircraft carrier had fired several shots within two miles of Playa Siboney, near Santiago.

The radio, quoting its correspondent at Santiago, said five jets took off from the carrier and made what it called "threatening flights" over Playa Siboney, which is about 40 miles due west of the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay. The broadcast did not name the carrier it said was involved.

The base commander's message said the carrier Randolph conducted flight operations about 15 miles south of Santiago Thursday.

The Randolph left the Guantanamo operations area five hours later and arrived at Kingston, Jamaica Friday morning, the report said.

The facilities will enable United to take gas from the Bastian Bay and West Bastian Bay fields in Plaquemines Parish.

The project will involve about 59 miles of pipeline from United's existing system in the Lirette area to the Bastian Bay area.

The authority was conditioned upon acceptance of temporary authorizations granted to two independent producers proposing to sell the gas to United. The producers are Gulf Oil Corp and Tidewater Oil Co., both of Houston, Tex.

Diana Smith Is Northeast Title Winner

Miss Congeniality, elected Thursday by the contestants themselves, for announcement last night was Miss Toma Gross, an auburn-tressed freshman nursing major from Pioneer.

Miss Northeast of 1961 drew long rounds of applause in the talent division of the contest with an organ solo, and apparently was a very popular winner, as her twelve competitors applauded loudly and warmly along with the capacity audience when her selection was announced.

Northeast President George A. Walker presented Miss Smith with the scepter of her new office. Along with a loving cup, Miss Northeast is the recipient of a scholarship and an evening gown from Northeast Louisiana merchants and businessmen.

Both the first and the second runners-up also received scholarships for their performances.

Other candidates, all of whom drew enthusiastic applause throughout the two and a half hour show, were the Misses Merilyn Burson, Mary Ann McKee, Jean Magee, Judy Willis, Tommie Jean Stockstill, Bonnie Corder, Sandra Stancil, Rebecca Zwahlen, and Bettie Gibbs.

Each of the girls appeared before judges in three distinct divisions, including the evening gown, the talent and the swim suit categories.

Talents shown by the other three winners included an interpretive dance by Miss Sims; at baton twirling exhibition to the tune of the "St. Louis Blues" by Miss McKenzie and a dramatic reading entitled "The Prodigal Son" by Miss Gross.

Master of Ceremonies, who at times seemed to be in peril of his life, was George Brian, a speech professor at the college. Brian repeatedly fought off the attacks of an itinerant bird that had somehow found his way into the auditorium. More than a match for the occasion, however, Brian quipped, "I know this is the space age, but this is ridiculous," and, a bit later, "You know, I've been given the bird many times before this, too."

Judges were Mrs. Estelle Sanders, Jim Williams, Mrs. James T. Riser, Leroy Anspach and Arthur Stone.

Personal background on the gorgeous new Miss Northeast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Smith, and measuring 35-23-36, reveal numerous accomplishments, among them being membership on the Northeast Choir, the Northeast Honor Society and Phi Mu social sorority. She is treasurer of Delta Omicron, national music fraternity for women and is a past winner of the T.H. Harris scholarship.

Pair Facing Prison For N.O. Slaying

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sentencing of 1 to 21 years were pending Friday against a restaurant cook and a former policeman convicted of manslaughter in the slaying of W. Ray Scheuering, municipal auditorium managing director.

A 12-man jury Thursday night found Donald Glowacki, the cook, and Norbert Habighorst guilty of the March 10 shooting of Scheuering. Judge J. Bernard Cocke did not set a date for sentencing.

The state had asked for a murder conviction, which carried an automatic death penalty.

Scheuering was shot moments after Habighorst and Glowacki, stopped his car on the New Orleans Expressway.

Habighorst testified he was struggling with a passenger in Scheuerings car when he pulled a .38 caliber revolver, which fired.

Glowacki, who did not testify, said earlier he had a .22 caliber gun in his hand and it fired, wounding himself in the leg.

Asst. Dist. Atty. J. D. McNeil contended Habighorst had the .22 caliber derringer and Glowacki had the .38 caliber gun, a policeman's service revolver.

McNeil claimed it was the .38 which killed Scheuering, but it made no difference who actually fired the shot because under the law both were equally guilty.

FBI technicians testified that Scheuering was killed with the .38 and Glowacki was wounded by the derringer fired at a distance of more than 4½ feet.

Habighorst testified he stopped the Scheuering car because it passed too close to his own auto, and that he thought young people driving under the influence of alcohol were driving it.

McNeil contended the two meant to shake down the people in Scheuerings car or to inflict bodily harm on them.

Record Midwest floods kept relentless pressure on dozens of communities in southern Illinois and Indiana, but receding waters cheered other drowned sections of a six-state area.

The backwaters kept thousands of lowland dwellers dispossessed, and new damage was threated as big earthen levees grew soggier. Many highways still were blocked by water.

The situation of Carmi, on the Little Wabash River in southeastern Illinois, remained critical as rising water reached 21.3 feet above flood level there. More than one - third of the 6,200 residents were evacuated by National Guard troops. The rise, possibly another half a foot, was expected to continue until Saturday noon.

The Big Muddy River reached crest at 22.5 feet above flood stage at Murphysboro Friday as backwater rose against a breastwork of 6,000 sandbags protecting the power plant and surrounded the waterworks of the southwestern Illinois city of 8,600.

The flood still covered tens of thousands of acres of farmlands. White County, where Carmi is situated, was reported 40 per cent under water.

The weather over the flooded region, including parts of Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas, was fair and warm — a heartening sign. Most of the nation had clear skies, but locally heavy rains fell in the East, and there was precipitation in the Northwest.

Rainfall around the headwaters of the New River in northwestern North Carolina and southwestern Virginia ranged from 2 to 4 inches, portending an added load for the Ohio River which might slow runoff in the stricken Indiana-Illinois area.

The Ohio's crest nearly 9 feet above flood level at Tell City, Ind., was expected to bring a crest at Cairo, Ill., Monday some 14 feet above flood stage. The Ohio flows into the Mississippi at Cairo.

High levels of the Ohio and the Middle Mississippi were not menacing for dwellers along their banks, but held a stopper for the overflowed tributaries. The Mississippi, 4 to 5 feet above flood stage below Cairo, was expected to go up another three feet next week. Upstream, it was near crest at Chester, Ill., 7.2 feet above the flood mark.

In Missouri, the Meramec, still 9 to 11 feet over flood below Pacific, was falling substantially. The Sangamon, in cesntral Illinois was expected to overflow 3 feet at Petersburg Sunday.

The Kaskaskia River, at crest 3.5 feet above overflow near Shelbyville, Ill., was 10.4 over flood at New Athens, Ill., with a few more inches of rise expected.

The Osave River, from Schell City to Oseola, Mo., was 13 to 15 feet out of its banks with another week of flooding in prospect. The Verdigris was 10 feet above flood stage, but falling from Claremore to Inola, Okla. The swollen Arkansas river was receding.

Gen. White Gives Views On Bombers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, has warned against a Maginot Line defense built solely on missiles. He said abandonment of the manned bomber could be fatal to the United States.

"I forecast, from a solemn point of responsibility upon me and a reading of history which I think need not be very deep, that the future is very likely to depend on something like the B70," White asserted.

His warning, contained in heavily-censored closed-door testimony published by the Houe Armed Services Committee, came in support of recommendations by both House and Senate armed services groups against moving too fast from bomber strength into reliance on missiles.

White appeared before the House Committee on March 20 and March 24.

Both committees have approved legislation authorizing continued production of B52 and B58 bombers, now scheduled to halt next year. White also urged bigger appropriations for faster development of the B70 bomber. Top officials now are weighing this question.

His Maginot Line remark referred to the elaborate French system of fortifications which the Nazis bypassed in their World War II drive on Paris.

Navy Reports Carrier Not Near Santiago

WASHINGTON (AP)—The commander of the Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba reported to U. S. Navy headquarters Friday that no U. S. aircraft carrier "known to this command was in the vicinity of Santiago this morning."

The Navy received this message from Rear Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell after Havana radio said an American aircraft carrier had fired several shots within two miles of Playa Siboney, near Santiago.

The radio, quoting its correspondent at Santiago, said five jets took off from the carrier and made what it called "threatening flights" over Playa Siboney, which is about 40 miles due west of the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay. The broadcast did not name the carrier it said was involved.

The base commander's message said the carrier Randolph conducted flight operations about 15 miles south of Santiago Thursday.

New United Gas State Pipeline Project Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Gas Pipe Line Co., Shreveport, La., Friday received temporary authority from the Power Commission to construct and operate natural gas pipeline facilities in Louisiana costing nearly $17 million.

The facilities will enable United to take gas from the Bastian Bay and West Bastian Bay fields in Plaquemines Parish.

The project will involve about 59 miles of pipeline from United's existing system in the Lirette area to the Bastian Bay area.

The authority was conditioned upon acceptance of temporary authorizations granted to two independent producers proposing to sell the gas to United. The producers are Gulf Oil Corp and Tidewater Oil Co., both of Houston, Tex.

Former Bad Man Is Granted Parole

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) —Ailing and nearly blind, Basil (The Owl) Banghart, once described as "the most crime-wise man in the nation," was granted a parole Friday from Stateville Penitentiary after serving 27 years for kidnaping.

But the former lieutenant of the prohibition-era Roger Touhy gang won't leave the prison near Joliet for at least a week. A spokesman for the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board said it will require a week or more for Banghart to show that he has made satisfactory arrangements for employment and a suitable home.

Diana Smith Is Northeast Title Winner

Miss Congeniality, elected Thursday by the contestants themselves, for announcement last night was Miss Toma Gross, an auburn-tressed freshman nursing major from Pioneer.

Miss Northeast of 1961 drew long rounds of applause in the talent division of the contest with an organ solo, and apparently was a very popular winner, as her twelve competitors applauded loudly and warmly along with the capacity audience when her selection was announced.

Northeast President George A. Walker presented Miss Smith with the scepter of her new office. Along with a loving cup, Miss Northeast is the recipient of a scholarship and an evening gown from Northeast Louisiana merchants and businessmen.

Both the first and the second runners-up also received scholarships for their performances.

Other candidates, all of whom drew enthusiastic applause throughout the two and a half hour show, were the Misses Merilyn Burson, Mary Ann McKee, Jean Magee, Judy Willis, Tommie Jean Stockstill, Bonnie Corder, Sandra Stancil, Rebecca Zwahlen, and Bettie Gibbs.

Each of the girls appeared before judges in three distinct divisions, including the evening gown, the talent and the swim suit categories.

Talents shown by the other three winners included an interpretive dance by Miss Sims; at baton twirling exhibition to the tune of the "St. Louis Blues" by Miss McKenzie and a dramatic reading entitled "The Prodigal Son" by Miss Gross.

Master of Ceremonies, who at times seemed to be in peril of his life, was George Brian, a speech professor at the college. Brian repeatedly fought off the attacks of an itinerant bird that had somehow found his way into the auditorium. More than a match for the occasion, however, Brian quipped, "I know this is the space age, but this is ridiculous," and, a bit later, "You know, I've been given the bird many times before this, too."

Judges were Mrs. Estelle Sanders, Jim Williams, Mrs. James T. Riser, Leroy Anspach and Arthur Stone.

Personal background on the gorgeous new Miss Northeast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Smith, and measuring 35-23-36, reveal numerous accomplishments, among them being membership on the Northeast Choir, the Northeast Honor Society and Phi Mu social sorority. She is treasurer of Delta Omicron, national music fraternity for women and is a past winner of the T.H. Harris scholarship.

Tech Geologists Elect Officers, Make Study Trip

RUSTON (Special) — Officers of the Geology Club at Louisiana Tech have been elected for 1961-62. They are Robert E. Holder, president; Jimmy L. David, vice-president, program chairman; and James F. Trickett, secretary-treasurer.

They are all Shreveporters.

Dr. Troy J. Laswell will assume duties as faculty sponsor of the club.

Six students and three geology professors at Tech recently made a trip to the Wildlife and Fisheries Marine Biology Laboratory at Grand Terre.

The purpose of the trip was to observe and study the geologic conditions that are prominent in that part of the state.

Bottom samples of the Gulf and marshy area were taken to study the type of sediment associated with the present ecological environment.

'Black Wednesday'

The United States now has two days which can properly be referred to as "black." The first is "black Monday," the day of the infamous supreme court ruling which ordered Negroes placed in white schools. The second is "black Wednesday," the day President Kennedy admitted the United States had let a few Cubans rebelling against Communist - supporter Fidel Castro be led into a death trap, without support or defense.

Holmes Alexander, veteran columnist, says the Kennedy blunder on Cuba hurt the United States worse than the Suez Canal fiasco, in which Nasser defied the big- nations of the west and got by with it, hurt England and Anthony Eden. Eden soon collapsed from ill health and Britain has never got over the loss of prestige, but even that was the fault of the United States and not of England. This country made England, France and Israel back down while they were winning. Eden took a right course but was purged because the United States would not back him.

The United States gave its okay to the Cuban rebels and left them to their fate.

The few hundred rebels landed and met a withering fire from Castro forces, including Russian MIG's and tanks. The landing force was virtually wiped out and those not killed were captured.

Two United States destroyers, which had conveyed the rebels, stood silently off shore without even returning the fire directed at them by the Russian MIG's and tanks. They could easily have destroyed the Castro arms and dispersed the "reception committee," but had been given orders not to fire.

A few days before the president had publicly vowed the United States would not intervene militarily, despite the fact that Russia was taking over the island just off our shores. This announcement, it is now agreed, shattered the morale of the anti-Castro underground in Cuba. How could it be expected to fight when certain of defeat?

One member of congress suggested at the white house briefing that the readiness of the Castro forces at precisely the beach where the landing was scheduled, of all of the hundreds of miles of Cuban coast, was exceedingly suspicious.

Another member of congress, addressing General Lemnitzer, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, asked whether the chiefs of staff had approved the venture. The president cut in quickly, before Lemnitzer could answer, saying, "The J.C.S. was neither asked to approve or disapprove they were simply informed of plans."

It is difficult to imagine a more colossal blunder than this, if true. That the president should not consult his military men on a military question is inexcusable, since he has practically no knowlede of military affairs and would be poorly equipped to deal with the situation unless he were as informed as possible.

The above intelligence makes clear why the invasion failed. When President Eisenhower unleashed the marines in the Lebanon landing in 1958, he was prepared to back them up with sufficient force to insure success. When President Kennedy unleashed the Cuban rebels, he announced publicly he would not back them up with U.S. military forces.

It is considered significant that only after it was all over did Kennedy call in the national security council, for the first time since he has been in office.

Why did the president publicly exclude help for the invasion? Stewart Aslop, long-time "liberal" columnist, suggested it was the influence of Adlai Stevenson, who has more sympathy for the communists than anyone in this country should possess, much less an official in high authority in international affairs.

How did Kennedy take the bad news on "black Wednesday?" It was remarked that he seemed to the members of congress to be a "dejected figure," who "kept his eyes down" in talking to them.

The president sought out such Republican leaders as Eisenhower, Richard Nixon and Nelson Rockefeller, not merely to still partisan attacks but because he was desperately worried and anxious to get all opinions he could, anything that would help him solve his grim problem.

President Kennedy could avoid such devastating blunders in the future if he would discuss military matters in advance with his chiefs of staff, with the security council and with such able men as former President Eisenhower. There is not much hope that he will do so, as he is likely to keep on acting impetuously, on the assumption that he knows it all. If he continues to do that this country will be more and more endangered, even though the Republicans are attempting to help him by doing all they can to present a united front.

Rights Tampering

Further tampering with the rights of states keynoted new "civil rights" legislation put in motion before Congress last week.

Once again it becomes clear that the Democratic forces are more concerned with writing their campaign platform into law than they are concerned about the safety of the country.

Congressman Otto Passman has opposed the measures as he says, "not because I am a southerner, but as an American devoted to safeguarding the traditional rights of our sovereign states."

Included in the package of six bills is a measure aimed at eliminating the literacy tests as a voting requirement for federal elections. Now who wants a portion of the electorate to be illiterate? The answer to this question dates back to Reconstruction days. Voters who cannot read can be counted upon to vote as directed. This makes it highly convenient for the political machines but rough on the democratic process.

This particular measure would come before the public as a Constitutional amendment. There is the consolation that even if it did pass Congress, the states would not ratify it.

Another of the proposals would require schools to submit plans for racial desegregation by 1963. This date—one hundred years after Lincoln freed the slaves — was literally pulled out of the air during the 1960 Democratic Convention by Adlai Stevenson. It is a vicious proposal which in no wise considers the educational advantages of the southern segregated schools.

A third bill deals with the matter of Fair Employment Practices, a theme of the old Truman administration. As presented last week, the bill would provide for administrative and court controls of private employment practices. This is the sort of legislation which enables the federal government to make further inroads into private management.

Two of the half dozen bills would strengthen the Civil Rights Commission which was due to expire September 9.

This is the sort of legislation which still rates top priority with the "new frontier" despite serious reverses in Cuba and Laos. Is was ironically fitting that the bills were introduced in the House and Senate during National Music Week. They recall an earlier fiddler who kept on playing while Rome was on fire.

Nero, however, had an excuse. Early Rome had no fire alarm systems. Our alarms have been ringing for over a dozen years, but officials still fiddle with domestic political issues which could wait.

Rustling In Post Office

Official In That Department Goes Interior Secretary Udall One Better In Selling $100-A-Plate Tickets

A Post Office Department official of less than cabinet rank is going Interior Secretary Udall one better in rustling up buyers for the Democratic National Committee's $100 - a - plate fund-raising dinner on May 27.

Udall asked a well - known oil lobbyist to "solicit" other lobbyists to buy tickets, whereas this official is enterprisingly doing his own soliciting.

While different, his method is as remarkable as Udall's.

He summoned a group of civil service subordinates to his office and bluntly announced he expected each of them to buy at least two tickets for the $100-a-plate dinner that is to be addressed by President Kennedy.

When one of the career officials asked if a ticket would include his wife, he retorted, "It will not. One ticket, one admission. You will have to buy a separate ticket for your wife."

Republican congressional leaders have gotten wind of this episode, and are indignantly charging the Post Office official with flouting several laws.

Behind this stern GOP outrage is also a big sigh of relief.

Former Republican postal authorities have been under fire for the same reason — disregarding the law in soliciting political contributions.

The Justice Department has been looking into complaints that in the 1960 presidential election, high Post Office officials "pressured" employes to contribute to the GOP campaign.

However, there is one key difference between the solicitations. The Democrat official's took place in his own office — which is government property. The Republican's in a private building.

How much of a legal out that is is conjectural. But since learning about this official's bald ticket peddling to civil service subordinates in his own office, the worried GOP leaders are breathing a lot easier.

They feel they now have a protective ace in the hole.

HOW IT WAS DONE — As related to them, the account of this intriguing incident is as follows:

On March 10, this official summoned seven top members of his staff, all under civil service. He began by pointedly noting he had made no changes in personnel since taking office.

But he added he didn't know how long he cound continue this policy because he was under heavy pressure to bring in deserving Democrats. Therefore it would greatly help him withstand that demand if these officials and others under them would each buy two tickets.

He emphasized he felt strongly that two $100 tickets should be purchased. He made it clear he deemed one insufficient.

Also requested by him was a list of contractors who had done upwards of $25,000 work for the department. He directed that be prepared so they could be asked to buy tickets.

The GOP have been told this list was gotten up for him.

Democratic National Chairman John Bailey has been advised of this matter, and is uneasily wondering how much of an explosion it will cause.

POLITICALS — New Orleans' long - time Mayor De Lesseps Morrison is slated to be named Assistant Secretary of State for Latin America. That's the word from White House insiders, who are saying Morrison, who speaks French and Spanish fluently, has finally been selected by the President for this tough post. Morrison will replace Adolf Berle, one-time New Deal brain-truster, who has been acting as special adviser on Latin American affairs . . . Former Vice President Nixon is going abroad soon, but not for the government. He will fly to London on business for a law client . . . That ambassadorship to Switzerland, which has been vacant since stormy Senate opposition forced the withdrawal of Earl E. T. Smith, personal friend of the President, is finally going to be filled — by a long-time foe of Senator Harry Byrd, Va. He is Colonel Francis Pickens Miller, veteran leader of the anti-Byrd forces, who vigorously supported the President in 1960. During the Truman Administration, Byrd blocked Miller for a federal job, but White House aides say he will not oppose Miller's appointment as Ambassador to Switzerland.

Love For Work

Doctor Writes As If He Were Talking To Only One Person

Writes Mrs. T. of Los Angeles: "It must be wonderful to be able to sit down to your typewriter and bring advice and encouragement to so many people."

Comment: Wonderful is the word for it, Mrs. T. I'd like to tell you just how I feel about it. Although I write for the many, I actually try to talk to one. As if one reader were sitting across my desk. Let Emerson explain it for me:

"Happy is he who looks only into his work to know if it will succeed, never into the times or public opinion; and who writes from the love of imparting certain thoughts and not from the necessity of sale — who writes always to the unknown friend."

Most of us don't like blunt-spoken people. Yet, they can be our best friends if we'll let them. In the same way — where health and life are concerned — pain is our friend. It is often the antidote against procrastination.

If an attack of appendicitis merely tickled us, instead of making us wince with pain, most of us would be likely candidates for extinction via the peritonitis route. We'd put off calling the doctor until it was too late.

For Mrs. S., Kansas City, Mo.: It is true that we can sometimes examine a patient completely and still find no reason for leg cramps —especially those which suddenly wake you at night and make you jump out of bed. Sometimes there is a calcium deficiency and such patients are helped when they increase their intake of orange juice, milk and cheese. Others swear by the warm bath before retiring. I have prescribed a quinine tablet which the patient takes before bedtime. Why this works, and how, I don't know. But I have known scores of patients who say it is the only thing that helped. Ask your doctor.

One of the most appreciative patients I ever had was a young man I treated in a medical dispensary many years ago. I can still see him vividly. He handed me a nickel package of life-savers and said:

"Thanks, doctor. Take these. Wish I could afford to pay you more." The fact that I still remember this incident, proves that this was one of the most satisfying fees I ever receive in the practice of medicine.

If you have a chronic illness like high blood pressure, diabetes, heart disease, etc., be careful to choose a doctor highly recommended for his professional ability and one who has many attributes of a fine human being. There will be days when you will need understanding and sympathy as much as you will require medicine. Once you find such a physician, hold close to him. Don't be tempted to go shopping around for others. The temptation is great to do so when you are nagged by discomfort — and the advice of friends to "make a change."

---

Thanks to penicillin and other antibiotics, the days are now long gone when all we could do for the pneumonia patient is pray and wait for the crisis. How slowly the days crept by when both doctor and family would wait for the seventh or ninth day (or some other such day) to learn if the patient's temperature of 105 would climb or fall quickly to normal. When people say: "Why can't you doctors do something for the common cold?" I tell them I wish they could watch the course of a severe pneumonia case of 25 years ago and compare it with the present - day pneumonia when we fire a barrage of antibiotics.

WASHINGTON SHORTS

POTTER POT-SHOTS — The honeymoon with the Kennedy Administration is virtually over and the Republicans are getting their bow and arrows out of moth balls. I. Lee Potter, special assistant to GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton, gave just a hint of what lies ahead. Speaking before a group of Republican women in Pennsylvania, he let fly with such barbs as these: "Washington is full of rumors these days — rumors rhubarbs that is — and I'd like to pass one of them along before we get down to serious business. The latest story going the rounds is that Kennedy is about to demand a recount in five states so Nixon can be elected and rescue him from the mess he is in. You can't walk a block in Washington these days without bumping into a Kennedy task force rushing to the nearest conference room. And there are advisors for everything — even one or two on the decor of the White House. I also note that some of the cabinet members appear to be confused about their duties. Take Secretary of Interior Udall, for instance. Apropos of his comments on Cuba one would suspect he is laboring under the delusion that he is Secretary of the Exterior."

NEW APPROACH — The staff people who work under Veterans Administrator John S. Gleason don't know quite how to take their boss but like his informality. As with previous administrators VA department heads call on Gleason once a week to brief him on activity in their section. One went into the new administrator's office recently and proceeded to fill in the boss with the aid of flip cards, charts, pointer sticks and other such paraphernalia. Finally, Gleason became impatient and waved it all aside. "Say, Bill," he said, "Can't we just sit here at the desk and chat about it?"

YOU NEVER KNOW — Rep. Frank Kowalski of Connecticut is still scratching his head over this note from a constituent: "Dear Mr. Congressman: Please Keep Connecticut a depressed area."

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

This Is What Causes Self-Employed Man Most Suffering

I don't know whether you like to fill in a lot of questionnaires, but I am what is characterized by the United States Treasury as a self-employed person. Whenever I have to employ someone I find that I am often asked to pay not for ability but for time which is worthless. I recall an ancient ditty, sung perhaps by the Negro Bert Williams in my childhood, which contained the lines:

If time was money
Id be a millionaire
I've got time, honey
And lots of it to spare.

The trouble with most folks these days is that they have too much time and want to be paid for it. In fact, some people want to be paid for being alive which is no fault of mine and when I have to pay taxes to keep them going, I feel like a philanthropist, except I can't afford it.

What the self-employed businessman suffers from most is questionnaires, forms and all sorts of papers he has to make out to keep the bureaucracy going. The bureaucrats dislike the self-employed small businessman and load him down with all kinds of bookkeeping and paper work which has no value and could be done once a year or maybe once in a life-time. For the bureaucrats it is easier to deal with a big corporation which can afford to hire a mass of clerks and a battery of computers to do all the work required to keep the bureaucrats at work.

A friend of mine sent me a copy of a letter which he had sent to the New York Telephone Company. Apparently the FCC wants to make a survey of telephone services. Of course, they can get all the information they want from the Telephone Company. All they need to do is to look at the various contracts for services. But that is too easy. What fun would there be in being an inspector if nobody was bothered?

But my friend is a tough guy. He had once been a fighter; has an excellent war record; is still an excellent wrestler and he hates bureaucrats. So, he declined to be pleasant to a survey team. He did not throw the team out of the window or submit them to judo or fence with them. He merely told them to go to the Devil which is a good place for survey teams to go. He wrote a letter to the Telephone Company which contains these two paragraphs:

"If, as explained to me by the survey team which came during a very busy office hour period, they picked this office by lot or chance, then there are hundreds of thousands of other offices available to study. I would suggest, however, that by arrangement, the surveys or inventories be done at night or on holidays so as not to cost the subscriber valuable time.

"I belong to the vast majority of small businessmen who desire to be left alone in accordance with the free enterprise system and do not want controls, inspections, surveys, inventories or studies, perhaps at my expense (through taxes) by the federal or state government."

Oh! Dear me! Why not live and let live? The bureaucrats need something to do, particularly the FCC which fears to do its principal business which is to supervise radio and television. If they monkey too much with that, how will they get jobs after they leave low-paid government service? We should be fair and let them occupy themselves counting telephones discovering why it is impossible even to see the Astronaut do America proud without constantly being interrupted by some dames singing dull and tiresome jingles which we have heard time and time again. The FCC does not care about this.

Bureaucracy can become a disease because these people need something to do. It is like cutting out paper dolls or building houses out of tooth-picks. Maybe it is cheaper at that, because if we fire bureaucrats, we increase unemployment and taxes will be higher. If the bureaucrats would twiddle their thumbs, they could do no greater harm than they would if they were unemployed. Perhaps they cost less that way.

Perhaps the FCC will one day count television sets and radios. Perhaps they will want to know how many transistor sets are available and how many come from Japan.

SYLVIA PORTER

Shrinking Dollar

Loses Buying-Power At Annual Rate Of 2.1 for 10 Years

The dollar you have in your pocket or pocketbook as you read this has been losing buying power at an annual rate of 2.1 per cent in the past 10 years. In some years the shrinkage has been greater, in some less. But over the decade this has been the average rate of depreciation.

It means that the dollar which you had in your pocket or pocketbook in 1950 and which bought 100 cents of goods and services for you then buys only 81 cents of the same goods and services for you now.

It means that if this rate of depreciation continues, your dollar will lose half its value in 33 years — a single generation.

It means that, in the down-to-earth terms of the marketplace, your dollar is not as mighty in buying power as it was 10 years ago or five years ago or 21 months ago.

There are two ways of reacting to these facts. One is the popular view of "How awful! This must be stopped at once!" The other view is, "It's not ideal, admittedly, but how does the U. S. dollar's record compare with the record of other currencies? How have most Americans made out during this period? Why has the dollar lost value this way?"

Let's in the next few minutes pursue the second view. It is so woefully underplayed in nearly every discussion of our dollar's trend!

How does the U. S. dollar's record compare?

The U. S. dollar ranks in seventh place among 43 currencies in the rate of annual depreciation between 1950 and 1960, a new compilation of the First National City Bank of New York reveals.

Ahead of our dollar are the currencies of: the Philippines and Ceylon, with annual rates of depreciation (compounded) in 1950-60 of 0.7 per cent; Portugal and Guatemala, with annual rates of depreciation of 0.9 per cent; Switzerland, with a rate of 1.1 per cent; Ecuador, with a rate of 1.8 per cent; Belgium, with a rate of 1.9 per cent.

Showing precisely the same rate of loss — 2.1 per cent — are the currencies of: Germany, India, Lebanon. Slightly behind with an annual shrinkage of 2.2 per cent is Canada's dollar.

Considerably behind are the currencies of Japan and the United Kingdom, Norway, Sweden, France. And in an orbit of their own with losses ranging to 90 per cent in one decade are the currencies of such nations as Argentina, Chile, Bolivia.

If you'll study these comparisons for an instant, one point that will emerge clearly is that the record of our dollar is on a par with, or better than any other industrial nation. Not one of the nations with a better record than ours is a major power, not one can be put in our class in size, responsibilities or character. Another point that will startle many of you is that the much admired and touted German mark has been losing buying power at the same rate as the U. S. dollar.

Our dollar's record has not been ideal, but it hasn't been bad either—and much of the criticism is simply not justified.

How have most Americans made out in this period?

The vast majority of Americans — wage - earners, businessmen, stockholders, property owners, etc. — have beaten the loss in the dollar's value. The annual rate of increase in paychecks, profits, dividends, rents, has far exceeded 2.1 per cent. Social security payments also have been increased steadily and substantially.

By any yardstick, most Americans are ahead. Those living on absolutely fixed incomes and dreadfully squeezed are in a minority.

Why has the dollar lost value this way?

The dollar has been shrinking in buying power because we have built into our economic system forces which tend to keep the cost of living and general price level in an upward creep.

It has been shrinking because we have been fighting a great cold war and little hot wars, and wars drain a currency's buying power.

Although the annual rate of loss, hopefully, will dwindle, these explanations emphasize that what has been the dollar's recent past is likely to be the dollar's near - term future. But we can live with this — and most Americans can beat it too.

On March 10, this official summoned seven top members of his staff, all under civil service. He began by pointedly noting he had made no changes in personnel since taking office.

But he added he didn't know how long he cound continue this policy because he was under heavy pressure to bring in deserving Democrats. Therefore it would greatly help him withstand that demand if these officials and others under them would each buy two tickets.

He emphasized he felt strongly that two $100 tickets should be purchased. He made it clear he deemed one insufficient.

Also requested by him was a list of contractors who had done upwards of $25,000 work for the department. He directed that be prepared so they could be asked to buy tickets.

The GOP have been told this list was gotten up for him.

Democratic National Chairman John Bailey has been advised of this matter, and is uneasily wondering how much of an explosion it will cause.

POLITICALS — New Orleans' long - time Mayor De Lesseps Morrison is slated to be named Assistant Secretary of State for Latin America. That's the word from White House insiders, who are saying Morrison, who speaks French and Spanish fluently, has finally been selected by the President for this tough post. Morrison will replace Adolf Berle, one-time New Deal brain-truster, who has been acting as special adviser on Latin American affairs . . . Former Vice President Nixon is going abroad soon, but not for the government. He will fly to London on business for a law client That ambassadorship to Switzerland, which has been vacant since stormy Senate opposition forced the withdrawal of Earl E. T. Smith, personal friend of the President, is finally going to be filled — by a long-time foe of Senator Harry Byrd, Va. He is Colonel Francis Pickens Miller, veteran leader of the anti-Byrd forces, who vigorously supported the President in 1960. During the Truman Administration, Byrd blocked Miller for a federal job, but White House aides say he will not oppose Miller's appointment as Ambassador to Switzerland.

Doctor Writes As If He Were Talking To Only One Person

Writes Mrs. T. of Los Angeles: "It must be wonderful to be able to sit down to your typewriter and bring advice and encouragement to so many people."

Comment: Wonderful is the word for it, Mrs. T. I'd like to tell you just how I feel about it. Although I write for the many, I actually try to talk to one. As if one reader were sitting across my desk. Let Emerson explain it for me:

"Happy is he who looks only into his work to know if it will succeed, never into the times or public opinion; and who writes from the love if imparting certain thoughts and not from the necessity of sale — who writes always to the unknown friend."

Most of us don't like blunt-spoken people. Yet, they can be our best friends if we'll let them. In the same way — where health and life are concerned — pain is our friend. It is often the antidote against procrastination.

If an attack of appendicitis merely tickled us, instead of making us wince with pain, most of us would be likely candidates for extinction iva the peritonitis route. We'd put off calling the doctor until it was too late.

For Mrs. S., Kansas City, Mo.: It is true that we can sometimes examine a patient completely and still find no reason for leg cramps —especially those which suddenly wake you at night and make you jump out of bed. Sometimes there is a calcium deficiency and such patients are helped when they increase their intake of orange juice, milk and cheese. Others swear by the warm bath before retiring I have prescribed a quinine tablet which the patient takes before bedtime. Why this works, and how, I don't know. But I have known scores of patients who say it is the only thing that helped. Ask your doctor.

One of the most appreciative patients I ever had was a young man I treated in a medical dispensary many years ago. I can still see him vividly. He handed me a nickel package of life-savers and said:

"Thanks, doctor. Take these. wish I could afford to pay you more." The fact that I still remember this incident, proves that this was one of the most satisfying fees I ever receive in the practice of medicine.

---

If you have a chronic illness (like high blood pressure, diabetes, heart disease, etc.), be careful to choose a doctor highly recommended for his professional ability and one who has many attributes of a fine human being. There will be days when you will need understanding and sympathy as much as you will require medicine. Once you find such a physician, hold close to him. Don't be tempted to go shopping around for others. The temptation is great to do so when you are nagged by discomfort — and the advice of friends to "make a change."

---

Thanks to penicillin and other antibiotics, the days are now long gone when all we could do for the pneumonia patient is pray and wait for the crisis. How slowly the days crept by when both doctor and family would wait for the seventh or ninth day (or some other such day) to learn if the patient's temperature of 105 would climb or fall quickly to normal. When people say: "Why can't you doctors do something for the common cold?" I tell them I wish they could watch the course of a severe pneumonia case of 25 years ago and compare it with the present - day pneumonia when we fire a barrage of antibiotics.

WASHINGTON SHORTS

POTTER POT-SHOTS — The honeymoon with the Kennedy Administration is virtually over and the Republicans are getting their bow and arrows out of moth balls. I. Lee Potter, special assistant to GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton, gave just a hint of what lies ahead. Speaking before a group of Republican women in Pennsylvania, he let fly with such barbs as these: "Washington is full of rumors these days — rumors rhubarbs that is — and I'd like to pass one of them along before we get down to serious business. The latest story going the rounds is that Kennedy is about to demand a recount in five states so Nixon can be elected and rescue him from the mess he is in. You can't walk a block in Washington these days without bumping into a Kennedy task force rushing to the nearest conference room. And there are advisors for everything — even one or two on the decor of the White House. I also note that some of the cabinet members appear to be confused about their duties. Take Secretary of Interior Udall, for instance. Apropos of his comments on Cuba one would suspect he is laboring under the delusion that he is Secretary of the Exterior."

NEW APPROACH — The staff people who work under Veterans Administrator John S. Gleason don't know quite how to take their boss but like his informality. As with previous administrators VA department heads call on Gleason once a week to brief him on activity in their section. One went into the new administrator's office recently and proceeded to fill in the boss with the aid of flip cards, charts, pointer sticks and other such paraphernalia. Finally, Gleason became impatient and waved it all aside. "Say, Bill," he said, "Can't we just sit here at the desk and chat about it?"

---

YOU NEVER KNOW — Rep. Frank Kowalski of Connecticut is still scratching his head over this note from a constituent: "Dear Mr. Congressman: Please Keep Connecticut a depressed area."

GEORGE SOKOLOSKY

This Is What Causes Self-Employed Man Most Suffering

I don't know whether you like to fill in a lot of questionnaires, but I am what is characterized by the United States Treasury as a self-employed person. Whenever I have to employ someone I find that I am often asked to pay not for ability but for time which is worthless. I recall an ancient ditty, sung perhaps by the Negro Bert Williams in my childhood, which contained the lines:

If time was money
Id be a millionaire
I've got time, honey
And lots of it to spare.

The trouble with most folks these days is that they have too much time and want to be paid for it. In fact, some people want to be paid for being alive which is no fault of mine and when I have to pay taxes to keep them going, I feel like a philanthropist, except I can't afford it.

What the self-employed businessman suffers from most is questionnaires, forms and all sorts of papers he has to make out to keep the bureaucracy going. The bureaucrats dislike the self-employed small businessman and load him down with all kinds of bookkeeping and paper work which has no value and could be done once a year or maybe once in a life-time. For the bureaucrats it is easier to deal with a big corporation which can afford to hire a mass of clerks and a battery of computers to do all the work required to keep the bureaucrats at work.

A friend of mine sent me a copy of a letter which he had sent to the New York Telephone Company. Apparently the FCC wants to make a survey of telephone services. Of course, they can get all the information they want from the Telephone Company. All they need to do is to look at the various contracts for services. But that is too easy. What fun would there be in being an inspector if nobody was bothered?

But my friend is a tough guy. He had once been a fighter; has an excellent war record; is still an excellent wrestler and he hates bureaucrats. So, he declined to be pleasant to a survy team. He did not throw the team out of the window or submit them to judo or fence with them. He merely told them to go to the Devil which is a good place for survey teams to go. He wrote a letter to the Telephone Company which contains these two paragraphs:

"If, as explained to me by the survey team which came during a very busy office hour period, they picked this office by lot or chance, then there are hundreds of thousands of other offices available to study. I would suggest, however, that by arrangement, the surveys or inventories be done at night or on holidays so as not to cost the subscriber valuable time.

"I belong to the vast majority of small businessmen who desire to be left alone in accordance with the free enterprise system and do not want controls, inspections, surveys, inventories or studies, perhaps at my expense (through taxes) by the federal or state government."

Oh! Dear me! Why not live and let live? The bureaucrats need something to do, particularly the FCC which fears to do its principal business which is to supervise radio and television. If they monkey too much with that, how will they get jobs after they leave low-paid government service? We should be fair and let them occupy themselves counting telephones discovering why it is impossible even to see the Astronaut do America proud without constantly being interrupted by some dames singing dull and tiresome jingles which we have heard time and time again. The FCC does not care about this.

Bureaucracy can become a disease because these people need something to do. It is like cutting out paper dolls or building houses out of tooth-picks. Maybe it is cheaper at that, because if we fire bureaucrats, we increase unemployment and taxes will be higher. If the bureaucrats would twiddle their thumbs, they could do no greater harm than they would if they were unemployed. Perhaps they cost less that way.

Perhaps the FCC will one day count television sets and radios. Perhaps they will want to know how many transistor sets are available and how many come from Japan.

SYLVIA PORTER

Shrinking Dollar

Loses Buying Power At Annual Rate Of 2.1 for 10 Years

The dollar you have in your pocket or pocketbook as you read this has been losing buying power at an annual rate of 2.1 per cent in the past 10 years. In some years the shrinkage has been greater, in some less. But over the decade this has been the average rate of depreciation.

It means that the dollar which you had in your pocket or pocketbook in 1950 and which bought 100 cents of goods and services for you then buys only 81 cents of the same goods and services for you now.

It means that if this rate of depreciation continues, your dollar will lose half its value in 33 years — a single generation.

It means that, in the down-to-earth terms of the marketplace, your dollar is not as mighty in buying power as it was 10 years ago or five years ago or 24 months ago.

There are two ways of reacting to these facts. One is the popular view of "How awful! This must be stopped at once!" The other view is, "It's not ideal, admittedly, but how does the U. S. dollar's record compare with the record of other currencies? How have most Americans made out during this period? Why has the dollar lost value this way?"

Let's in the next few minutes pursue the second view. It is so woefully underplayed in nearly every discussion of our dollar's trend.

How does the U. S. dollar's record compare?

The U. S. dollar ranks in seventh place among 43 currencies in the rate of annual depreciation between 1950 and 1960, a new compilation of the First National City Bank of New York reveals.

Ahead of our dollar are the currencies of: the Philippines and Ceylon, with annual rates of depreciation (compounded) in 1950-60 of 8-7 per cent; Portugal and Guatemala, with annual rates of depreciation of 0.9 per cent; Switzerland, with a rate of 1.4 per cent; Ecuador, with a rate of 1.8 per cent; Belgium, with a rate of 1.9 per cent.

Showing precisely the same rate of loss — 2.1 per cent — are the currencies of: Germany, India, Lebanon. Slightly behind with an annual shrinkage of 2.2 per cent is Canada's dollar.

Considerably behind are the currencies of Japan and the United Kingdom, Norway, Sweden, France. And in an orbit of their own with losses ranging to 99 per cent in one decade are the currencies of such nations as Argentina, Chile, Bolivia.

If you'll study these comparisons for an instant, one point that will emerge clearly is that the record of our dollar is on a par with, or better than any other industrial nation. Not one of the nations with a better record than ours is a major power, not one can be put in our class in size responsibilities or character. Another point that will startle many of you is that the much admired and touted German mark has been losing buying power at the same rate as the U. S. dollar.

Our dollar's record has not been ideal, but it hasn't been bad either—and much of the criticism is simply not justified.

How have most Americans made out in this period?

The vast majority of Americans — wage - earners, businessmen, stockholders, property owners, etc. — have beaten the loss in the dollar's value. The annual rate of increase in paychecks, profits, dividends, rents, has far exceeded 2.1 per cent. Social security payments also have been increased steadily and substantially.

By any yardstick, most Americans are ahead. Those living on absolutely fixed incomes and dreadfully squeezed are in a minority.

Why has the dollar lost value this way?

The dollar has been shrinking in buying power because we have built into our economic system forces which tend to keep the cost of living and general price level in an upward creep.

It has been shrinking because we have been fighting a great cold war and little hot wars, and wars drain a currency's buying power.

Although the annual rate of loss, hopefully, will dwindle, these explanations emphasize that what has been the dollar's recent past is likely to be the dollar's near - term future. But we can live with this — and most Americans can beat it too.

lighted if Santoro had invested $250,000 with them.

It wasn't that Santoro was particularly impressive in appearance. He's about 5 feet 9, weighs 165 pounds, has a weatherbeaten face and rough hands, which McCleary says it is obvious he didn't get counting money. It was that letter.

Through it all, Santoro didn't hurt anybody much. In fact, McCleary thinks the only money lost was the tab for a meal one boat salesman spent on the contractor-client.

For Santoro never took delivery on any of the things he orlered. He would sign a contract for, say, a cruiser and then remark: "I'll be back in a few days with a certified check for a down payment." He never returned and nothing was delivered.

McCleary, who says he hasn't had the nerve to talk the thing over yet with Mrs. Santoro, picked him up while he was wearing overalls and working on a job.

After pleading guilty in Brookhaven Town Court to what McCleary calls a "catch-all" misdemeanor ordinance that included "outraging public decency," Santoro was led away to jail.

I didn't really do anybody any harm," he remarked.

McCleary agrees.

miles an hour—fastest ever run at the speedway with other cars on the track.

Bettenhausen lived in Tinley Park, Ill., where he was born, and farmed 600 acres of corn and soybean land with the help of two teen-age sons, Gary 19, and Merle 17. He also is survived by his wife, Valerie, and two daughters, Susan, 15, and Tony Lee, 9.

Popularly known as "The Tinley Park Express" on the pro circuit, Bettenhausen had raced with gusto and ready quips in everything from midget car sprints to the Mexican road race.

The stocky little Dutchman with the blond burr haircut was a fierce competitor but widely admired in the racing fraternity.

"Always," said Rodger Ward, "he was the man to beat in any race."

Tony was one of the few active drivers with experience going beyond World War II. He started in a midget at the Chicago Armory in 1938.

He won the 1951 national championship in the famous Belanger Special, capturing races at Milwaukee, Langhorne, Springfield, Ill., Syracuse, Denver, San Jose and two at Du Quoin, Ill. He repeated in 1958 on consistent placing without winning a race.

Bettenhausen was coming smoothly down the middle of the main stretch when the car suddenly jerked to the right and into the low concrete wall and steel fence in front of the grandstands.

The car came to a stop upside down on the wall, just short of the box seats in front of grandstand A, one of the mammoth two-deckers near the starting line.

The affable driver, who said he would retire if he ever won the rich Indianapolis race, had started in every 500 but one since World War II but his second with Russo was his best finish. He took fourth money in both 1958 and 1959. Last year he was stopped by a broken connecting rod.

A 10-man USAC investigating board looked over the car, which was owned by Douglas Stearly of Collegeville, Pa., and called the Stearly Special, and gave this reason for the crash:

"An anchor bolt fell out of the front radius rod support, allowing the front axle to twist and misalign when the brakes were applied."

The board included his friend Russo and former drivers Henry Banks, now USAC director of competition, and Freddie Agabashian.

Bettenhausen was the 30th driver killed at the 51-year-old Speedway. The toll includes 14 mechanics and nine spectators — two of the latter killed last year in the collapse of a home-made scaffold in the infield.

Cuba Committee. Gibson is acting secretary of the pro-Castro committee.

The Navy disclosed the halt in auto and bus traffic to the Guantanamo base, which lies in Cuban territory.

The Navy said the halt, enforced by Cuban militia, was an attempt to harrass the U.S. base.

The base employs 3,200 Cubans, most of whom live in cities more than 20 miles away. They come to Guantanamo by commercial bus or car pool. At the base, they hold a variety of jobs such as ship repair, ordnance, electrician, clerical and custodial.

Once it found out about the halt, the Navy said, it used its own buses to meet the workers at the gate and drive them to their jobs. The U.S. buses are not permitted by Cuban authorities to leave the base.

state attorney general, as defendants.

For several months, the question of ownership of the property has been in doubt.

The jury has indicated its claim to the buildings and 26 acres of land, as public property which was maintained by taxes from 1939 through 1959.

According to the lawsuit, the association acquired the property from the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health Association Inc. by deed on September 3, 1935.

The association is required by a self-perpetuating board of governors to operate the sanitorium only for needy tuberculosis sufferers residing within Ouachita Parish, "and thus be dedicated to the public."

In 1939, the police jury called for a tax election, and the voters approved a one-mill tax for 10 years, for equipment and operating expenses for the sanitorium.

The tax was renewed at a 1949 election for 10 years to 1959.

On November 26, 1958, Mrs. Kugler, the widow of Julius B. Kugler, and their daughter Mrs. Katherine Kugler Curty, signed over their interest in the property to the board of governors of the Sanatorium.

But, the lawsuit reveals, "no such entity then existed," in other words, the board of governors was not an official body at that time.

The suit says that the buildings no longer are needed for a tuberculosis sanitorium, and that this makes it impossible to comply with the restrictions that say the property may be used only for this purpose.

It asks the court to release the association from the restriction, so that the property can be used for the "general purpose and intent of the original charitable bequest," but without specific limitations.

Guidance and instruction of the court also is asked.

Waterproof In Track Victory At C Meeting

LAFAYETTE, La. (Special) — Waterproof used victories in the 440 and mile relays and first places in the javelin and 100 yard dash to rack up 59 points and the 1961 class C state track title.

Maurice, who stayed on the heels of the winners all the way notched 50 points to outdistance third place La. school for the deaf with 25, Moreauville with 20, and Sikes' 19. A total of 24 schools shared in the scoring.

Five new records went into the books Friday afternoon, with Larry Shirey of Sikes putting two of them there. Shirey ran a tremendous 4:31.0 mile to shatter the four lap standard of 4:45.3 and came back later to post a 2:5.65 clocking in the half to nudge the standing 2:5.7 mark off the ledger.

Shirey's time in the mile could possibly be a new composite record depending upon the results of the four other Louisiana high school divisional meets, being held Friday.

services — will reach an annual rate of $505-10 billion in this second quarter of 1960. This would be well above the first-quarter recession low of $499.5 billion and represent full recovery of the ground lost since the record high scored last spring just before the recession began.

Both these developments came just a day after the Labor Department reported a modest but "significant" increase in the average factory work week in April, coupled with a small rise in employment and a slightly larger decrease in unemployment.

A further sign of improvement in the jobs picture came Friday with word from the Labor Department that the number of idled workers drawing regular weekly unemployment benefits declined for the 10th straight time in the week ended April 29. The total fell by 113,900 to 2,610,000 as compared with the record 3,422,000 in mid-February and 1,319,400 a year ago.

From Pittsburgh came word that the steel industry at last is feeling a sustained upturn — although leaders see no boom. Production last week was at 63 per cent of capacity — best since May 1960 — compared with 57 in March's last week.

The Federal Reserve Board's report on economic conditions showed only one definitely dark spot, in comparison with March figures. Retail trade was down one per cent over-all although department stores bucked the trend and advanced for the third straight month.

The board's index of the output of mines, factories and utilities stood at 105 compared with 102 in March — rounded figures are used in these reports when accounts for the fact that 2½ per cent of 102 does not figure quite to 105. The index figure of 100 is based on 1957 as an average.

It was the first rise in this index since a one-point advance last July and the widest since December 1959 when the production rate was headed toward its record peak of 111 in January 1960.

mission in Laos that an actual cease-fire existed. He was satisfied on that point by a report from the Indian-Canadian-Polish commission.

Second, Rusk refused to agree that the pro-Communist Pathet Lao could be seated at the conference as though it were a government of Laos, as the Soviets demanded. He said the Pathet Lao could not claim full governmental status with the same standing as Premier Boun Oum's pro-Western regime.

It was on this point that efforts to open the conference broke down.

Although some delegates persisted through the day in believing the talks might get under way Saturday, a British spokesman said it was not likely they could begin until Monday or Tuesday.

Rusk argued that Pathet Lao was not a government in any sense, that it was not recognized as such by the Soviet Union or Red China, that it was not even a political party, that it was only a military group in a state of insurrection.

lighted if Santoro had invested $250,000 with them.

It wasn't that Santoro was particularly impressive in appearance. He's about 5 feet 9, weighs 165 pounds, has a weatherbeaten face and rough hands, which McCleary says it is obvious he didn't get counting money. It was that letter.

Through it all, Santoro didn't hurt anybody much. In fact, McCleary thinks the only money lost was the tab for a meal one boat salesman spent on the contractor-client.

For Santoro never took delivery on any of the things he orlered. He would sign a contract for, say, a cruiser and then remark: "I'll be back in a few days with a certified check for a down payment." He never returned and nothing was delivered.

McCleary, who says he hasn't had the nerve to talk the thing over yet with Mrs. Santoro, picked him up while he was wearing overalls and working on a job.

After pleading guilty in Brookhaven Town Court to what McCleary calls a "catch-all" misdemeanor ordinance that included "outraging public decency," Santoro was led away to jail.

I didn't really do anybody any harm," he remarked.

McCleary agrees.

Speedway Test Of Friend's Car Ends In Tragedy

miles an hour—fastest ever run at the speedway with other cars on the track.

Bettenhausen lived in Tinley Park, Ill., where he was born, and farmed 600 acres of corn and soybean land with the help of two teen-age sons, Gary 19, and Merle 17. He also is survived by his wife, Valerie, and two daughters, Susan, 15, and Tony Lee, 9.

Popularly known as "The Tinley Park Express" on the pro circuit, Bettenhausen had raced with gusto and ready quips in everything from midget car sprints to the Mexican road race.

The stocky little Dutchman with the blond burr haircut was a fierce competitor but widely admired in the racing fraternity.

"Always," said Rodger Ward, "he was the man to beat in any race."

Tony was one of the few active drivers with experience going beyond World War II. He started in a midget at the Chicago Armory in 1938.

He won the 1951 national championship in the famous Belanger Special, capturing races at Milwaukee, Langhorne, Springfield, Ill.; Syracuse, Denver, San Jose and two at Du Quoin, Ill. He repeated in 1958 on consistent placing without winning a race.

Bettenhausen was coming smoothly down the middle of the main stretch when the car suddenly jerked to the right and into the low concrete wall and steel fence in front of the grandstands.

The car came to a stop upside down on the wall, just short of the box seats in front of grandstand A, one of the mammoth two-deckers near the starting line.

The affable driver, who said he would retire if he ever won the rich Indianapolis race, had started in every 500 but one since World War II but his second with Russo was his best finish. He took fourth money in both 1958 and 1959. Last year he was stopped by a broken connecting rod.

A 10-man USAC investigating board looked over the car, which was owned by Douglas Stearly of Collegeville, Pa., and called the Stearly Special, and gave this reason for the crash:

"An anchor bolt fell out of the front radius rod support, allowing the front axle to twist and misalign when the brakes were applied."

The board included his friend Russo and former drivers Henry Banks, now USAC director of competition, and Freddie Agabashian.

Bettenhausen was the 30th driver killed at the 51-year-old Speedway. The toll includes 14 mechanics and nine spectators — two of the latter killed last year in the collapse of a home-made scaffold in the infield.

Castro Halts Motor Traffic To U.S. Base

Cuba Committee. Gibson is acting secretary of the pro-Castro committee.

The Navy disclosed the halt in auto and bus traffic to the Guantanamo base, which lies in Cuban territory.

The Navy said the halt, enforced by Cuban militia, was an attempt to harrass the U.S. base.

The base employs 3,200 Cubans, most of whom live in cities more than 20 miles away. They come to Guantanamo by commercial bus or car pool. At the base, they hold a variety of jobs such as ship repair, ordnance, electrician, clerical and custodial.

Once it found out about the halt, the Navy said, it used its own buses to meet the workers at the gate and drive them to their jobs. The U.S. buses are not permitted by Cuban authorities to leave the base.

state attorney general, as defendants.

For several months, the question of ownership of the property has been in doubt.

The jury has indicated its claim to the buildings and 26 acres of land, as public property which was maintained by taxes from 1939 through 1959.

According to the lawsuit, the association acquired the property from the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health Association Inc. by deed on September 3, 1935.

The association is required by a self - perpetuating board of governors to operate the sanitorium only for needy tuberculosis sufferers residing within Ouachita Parish, "and thus be dedicated to the public"

In 1939, the police jury called for a tax election, and the voters approved a one-mill tax for 10 years, for equipment and operating expenses for the sanitorium.

The tax was renewed at a 1949 election for 10 years to 1959.

On November 26, 1958, Mrs. Kugler, the widow of Julius B. Kugler, and their daughter Mrs. Katherine Kugler Curty, signed over their interest in the property to the board of governors of the Sanatorium.

But, the lawsuit reveals, "no such entity then existed," in other words, the board of governors was not an official body at that time.

The suit says that the buildings no longer are needed for a tuberculosis sanitorium, and that this makes it impossible to comply with the restrictions that say the property may be used only for this purpose.

It asks the court to release the association from the restriction, so that the property can be used for the "general purpose and intent of the original charitable bequest," but without specific limitations.

Guidance and instruction of the court also is asked.

Waterproof In Track Victory At C Meeting

LAFAYETTE, La. (Special) — Waterproof used victories in the 440 and mile relays and first places in the javelin and 100 yard dash to rack up 59 points and the 1961 class C state track title.

Maurice, who stayed on the heels of the winners all the way notched 50 points to outdistance third place La. school for the deaf with 23, Moreauville with 20, and Sikes' 19. A total of 24 schools shared in the scoring.

Five new records went into the books Friday afternoon, with Larry Shirey of Sikes putting two of them there. Shirey ran a tremendous 4:31.0 mile to shatter the four lap standard of 4:45.3 and came back later to post a 2:5.65 clocking in the half to nudge the standing 2:5.7 mark off the ledger.

Shirey's time in the mile could possibly be a new composite record depending upon the results of the four other Louisiana high school divisional meets, being held Friday.

services — will reach an annual rate of $505-10 billion in this second quarter of 1960. This would be well above the first-quarter recession low of $499.5 billion and represent full recovery of the ground lost since the record high scored last spring just before the recession began.

Both these developments came just a day after the Labor Department reported a modest but "significant" increase in the average factory work week in April, coupled with a small rise in employment and a slightly larger decrease in unemployment.

A further sign of improvement in the jobs picture came Friday with word from the Labor Department that the number of idled workers drawing regular weekly unemployment benefits declined for the 10th straight time in the week ended April 29. The total fell by 113,900 to 2,610,000 as compared with the record 3,422,000 in mid-February and 1,319,400 a year ago.

From Pittsburgh came word that the steel industry at last is feeling a sustained upturn — although leaders see no boom. Production last week was at 68 per cent of capacity — best since May 1960 — compared with 57 in March's last week.

The Federal Reserve Board's report on economic conditions showed only one definitely dark spot, in comparison with March figures. Retail trade was down one per cent over-all although department stores bucked the trend and advanced for the third straight month.

The board's index of the output of mines, factories and utilities stood at 105 compared with 102 in March — rounded figures are used in these reports which accounts for the fact that 2½ per cent of 102 does not figure quite to 105. The index figure of 100 is based on 1957 as an average.

It was the first rise in this index since a one-point advance last July and the widest since December 1959 when the production rate was headed toward its record peak of 111 in January 1960.

mission in Laos that an actual cease-fire existed. He was satisfied on that point by a report from the Indian-Canadian-Polish commission.

Second, Rusk refused to agree that the pro-Communist Pathet Lao could be seated at the conference as though it were a government of Laos, as the Soviets demanded. He said the Pathet Lao could not claim full governmental status with the same standing as Premier Boun Oum's pro-Western regime.

It was on this point that efforts to open the conference broke down.

Although some delegates persisted through the day in believing the talks might get under way Saturday, a British spokesman said it was not likely they could begin until Monday or Tuesday.

Rusk argued that Pathet Lao was not a government in any sense, that it was not recognized as such by the Soviet Union or Red China, that it was not even a political party, that it was only a military group in a state of insurrection.

MISS MIDNIGHT'S NOTEBOOK: Steve Reeves is back in Rome making a film — "in perfect health" — and telling friends that reports growing out of his hospitalization were greatly exaggerated. Steve says he was merely resting after making six pictures in a row . . . "The Night They Raided Minsky's," the musical comedy based on the life of burlesque king Billy Minsky, is budgeted for plenty of dazzle. Production costs will hit just short of half a million dollars . . . Lenny Bruce, just recovered from a serious illness, is an unexpected headliner at the Village Vanguard for three weeks. There's a new surprise ending to the movie version of "The Pleasure of His Company" —a surprise, that is, if you saw the play. But the final scene was changed with full permission of the playwright, Samuel Taylor, who also wrote the scenario.

The elbow - bending set is pondering this mystery: why is the price of scotch in this country 'way up, when it should be 'way down? The funny people don't want to be funny any more. Eve Arden's next venture will be a straight dramatic role . . . MGM is now selling Elizabeth Taylor by the "package." In order to capitalize on her Academy Award, the studio is selling blocks of old Taylor films to the exhibitors.

You think all jazz musicians are beatniks? Well, jazz trumpeter Miles Davis has just been named "fashion personality of the month" by Gentleman's Quarterly . . . Statuesque Julie Newmar showed up at the gala premiere of "Return to Peyton Place" with two escorts, film producer Bob Radnitz and English scientist John Mosely — but obviously she still yearns for Douglas Burden. She left her seat just before the movie went on to telephone him. Julie made quite an entrance at the opening: she tripped over one of the Three Stooges in the lobby and took an unglamorous pratt fall in view of hundreds of spectators. She got out of it gracefully, though. After she'd been helped up, she kissed the Stooge on the cheek to indicate forgiveness, and drew a big round of applause from the crowd.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

NERVOUS RASH

There is a close alliance between the nervous system and the skin. A person may blush when embarrassed, turn red when angry, or pale when frightened. We all know individuals who break into a sweat when emotionally disturbed. Others start scratching when lice or bedbugs are mentioned.

These immediate nervous reactions develop because the skin is well supplied with blood vessels, nerve endings, and glands. All these structures are affected by emotional tensions. Skin rashes of nervous origin (neurodermatitis) also occur but they do not come and go as readily as blushing or itching sensations. The mechanism is the same except that the emotional and nervous exciters are more prolonged.

Many neurodermatitis sufferers have personality problems that go back to childhood. They are harassed with anxiety, repressed hostility, feelings of guilt or inferiority, or they crave approval from their fellows.

The clew is found frequently by determining how the individual was living at the time the condition developed. A change of scenery or a rest often helps, especially in those who are racing their motor. They should take stock of the things that are producing the greatest tension in their life.

Some need a major revision of the way they manage their affairs. Good slogans are: "First things first" and "Solve one problem at a time."

Many victims of neurodermatitis are skin conscious. They derive great pleasure from skin contact with others, from warm baths, massage, and sunbathing. They fail to realize that the healthy functioning of the skin depends upon the healthy functioning of the mind.

ADULT ECZEMA

R. S. writes: How do you cure eczema in a grownup?

REPLY

Treatment is easy when the cause is known and can be eliminated. The offender may be a food, drug, industrial chemical or something else the individual contacts. Temporary relief can be obtained with a modern remedy such as a steroid ointment.

HOT STUFF

D. L. writes: What would cause a lifelong fever? It started in childhood.

REPLY

Body temperature varies from one individual to another in much the same way as the pulse, the amount of perspiration, and the body functions. There always are a few persons who run hotter or colder than average. In this respect, the slight elevation in temperature is not fever.

MICRO-ORGANISMS

C. E. T. writes: What is the difference between germs and viruses?

REPLY

The word "germs" is not used in a technical way but the layman generally means bacteria. Viruses, which came upon the scene much later, are one type of germ. They are too small to be seen under the ordinary microscope.

VACCINATED DOG

J. E. writes: If a dog that has been inoculated against rabies playfully nips a persons, is there any question of rabies?

REPLY

Not as a rule.

INHERITED HEART DISEASE

H. B. writes: What part does heredity play in a coronary?

REPLY

Some persons inherit weak blood vessels, including the coronary arteries. Other families are prone to develop conditions such as high blood pressure or diabetes that predispose to hardening of the coronary arteries. Heredity also plays a role in a man's disposition and emotional stamina, which in turn affects the pulse rate and blood pressure.

Treatment is easy when the cause is known and can be eliminated. The offender may be a food, drug, industrial chemical or something else the individual contacts. Temporary relief can be obtained with a modern remedy such as a steroid ointment.

HOT STUFF

D. L. writes: What would cause a lifelong fever? It started in childhood.

REPLY

Body temperature varies from one individual to another in much the same way as the pulse, the amount of perspiration, and the body functions. There always are a few persons who run hotter or colder than average. In this respect, the slight elevation in temperature is not fever.

MICRO-ORGANISMS

C. E. T. writes: What is the difference between germs and viruses?

REPLY

The word "germs" is not used in a technical way but the layman generally means bacteria. Viruses, which came upon the scene much later, are one type of germ. They are too small to be seen under the ordinary miscroscope.

VACCINATED DOG

J. E. writes: If a dog that has been inoculated against rabies playfully nips a persons, is there any question of rabies?

REPLY

Not as a rule.

INHERITED HEART DISEASE

H. B. writes: What part does heredity play in a coronary?

REPLY

Some persons inherit weak blood vessels, including the coronary arteries. Other families are prone to develop conditions such as high blood pressure or diabetes that pre-dispose to hardening of the coronary arteries. Heredity also plays a role in a man's disposition and emotional stamina, which in turn affects the pulse rate and blood pressure.

New Hunting, Fishing License Pact In Effect

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Hunting and fishing will be more pleasant along the winding banks of the Mississippi River under an agreement that went into effect Friday between Louisiana and Mississippi.

Adoption of the agreement will help end the age-old question of "what state am I in?" by making Louisiana regulations apply west of the main channel of the Mississippi River and Mississippi regulations apply east of the main channel.

To facilitate law enforcement, game wardens from the two states will work together.

One of the main points of the agreement permits hunters and fishermen to carry their legal game and fish across either states lands and waters without molestation.

Louisiana does spell out one restriction against Mississippians and it hits fishermen in the Vicksburg and Natchez areas hardest.

Louisiana forbids Mississippians to fish in the borrow pits on the Louisiana side of the Mississippi river.

STABBING VICTIM FOUND

FREDERIKSBERG, Finland (AP)—The body of contractor Kauko Partinen, 38, was found seated in an easy chair on the town dump here Friday. He had been stabbed to death. Police arrested 20 persons who had attended a party with Partinen the night before.

Reds Assail West Berlin U.S. Pledge

NEW YORK (UPI) — East Germany's quick reaction to Secretary of State Dean Rusk's warning on West Berlin lent weight to Western apprehensions about the city's future.

The East German Communist party's official newspaper, Neues Deutschland, denounced Rusk's pledge to defend West Berlin against Soviet pressures as aggressive and dangerous. It called for negotiations to avert "catastrophic explosions."

Describing West Berlin as a center of espionage and provocation against the Communist camp, the newspaper said it was high time to end the "abnormal situation" in Germany and to "liquidate the remnants of World War II."

This was Communist double-talk for erasing Western allied rights in Berlin.

As in most East-West disputes, the question of Western rights in the divided city hinges on different interpretations of the situation.

The Allies insist they are entitled to be in Berlin on the basis of wartime agreements which divided Germany and established "greater Berlin" as a special area under four - power occupation. They contend the agreements remain in force until Germany is finally reunited.

The Russians say they no longer are bound by the agreements, which they claim have been outdated by events. They say the Allies have violated the accords by rearming West Germany and creating an "espionage nest" in West Berlin.

But behind the Berlin question is the bigger issue of a divided Germany. Western experts believe loss of West Berlin, through economic or political strangulation, would invite further Communist pressures on West Germany. Soviet threats to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany is part of this strategy.

As for reunification, many Western experts believe the only probable chance the Kremlin would consider this would be in exchange for a demilitarized neutral Germany.

Lane Favors U. S. Aquatic Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. T. A. Lane, president of the Mississippi River Commission, Vicksburg, Miss., testified Friday in favor of a one million dollar appropriation for aquatic control in eight southern states in the year starting July 1.

Lane appeared before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee.

Army Engineers so far have spent $1,487,000 ridding waters of plants that pollute streams endanger navigation in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

Monroe To Get Aid For Bridges

Monroe Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriquez announced Friday that the Louisiana Highway Department is giving the city $41,000 for the construction of three bridges over the proposed Northside drainage canal.

A six-lane bridge will be built over Louisville Avenue, four lane over Forsythe Avenue and two ... yesterday that Ray W. Burgess, director of the highway department, had approved the contribution.

The city will let the contract. Construction of the bridges will be part of the overall drainage contract for the large canal, which will extend from north of Forsythe Avenue to a point just south of Louisville Avenue.

Purpose of the canal is to relieve large areas of the city from the danger of flooding.

The drainage canal will be constructed under two contracts. One contract already has been let, and work has been underway for several months on the section from Louisville Avenue south to Youngs Bayou and the parish canal that flows into LaFourche Swamp.

Rodriquez pointed out that in the forseeable future, Louisville Avenue undoubtedly will be extended from four to six lanes wide, and that Forsythe Avenue will be widened from two lanes to four, at the point where the bridges will be built.

"It would be false economy to build only a four lane bridge now on Louisville and in a few years have to build a six lane bridge," he said, and indicated the same reasoning applies to Forsythe Avenue.

The bridges will have three foot wide sidewalks on each side, in the event that sidewalks ever are needed.

"We have found that the Ouachita delegates to the state legislature, the department of highways, Ray W. Burgess, director, James Howard, highway department board member from the Fifth district, Ellis Ross, district engineer, and all of the good people of the department of highways have been very cooperative, not only on this project but on many others," Rodriquez said.

This action took place at a meeting of the school board Friday.

N.O. Solons Have Run-In With Police

BATON ROUGE (AP)—City police forcefully removed two New Orleans lawmakers from a barroom here Thursday night and brought them to headquarters for "acting in a drunken manner."

A police report identified the two as Reps. Rodney Buras and Anthony Vesich, who had a similar run-in with local police for running a red light during a winter special session.

The legislature is holding its 20-day fiscal session. Lawmakers are immune from arrest during legislative session. No charges were filed by officers.

Police said at one time Rep. Buras offered to fight Inspector Rufus S. Trigg, who heads the city detective force.

About 8:30 p.m., the police report said, officers were called to the Continental Motor Hotel.

Officers found Reps. Buras and Vesich "were definitely creating a disturbance when they arrived, and when asked by police to leave the Continental bar they refused profanely."

The two said they would not leave under any conditions, the police report said, and the officers were told they would have to eject them bodily.

After considerable haggling and persuasion, the report said, officers had to use force to take them to the station in a squad car.

At the station, the report said, officers had to use force to restrain them and they continued to be loud and profane. About 10:30 p.m., after considerable talk, the two were released to Rep. Peter Martes, also of Orleans Parish, and state police Lt. Ivy Broussard.

Model Airplane Championship Show Set Here

Model airplane builders and flyers from throughout Louisiana will gather here at the Eastgate Shopping Center May 21 to determine their annual Air Youth State Champion in an official meet sanctioned by the Academy of Model Aeronautics.

According to J. E. Sidders, contest director of West Monroe, the winner will earn an all-expense paid trip to the National Model Airplane Championships, July 24-30, at Willow Grove Naval Air Station in Philadelphia, Pa., where he will compete against Air Youth Champs from each of the fifty states.

Sponsored by the Hobby Industry Association of America, Inc., the 1961 meet is the third such program held in Louisiana. Last year's winner was John W. Shannon, of Shreveport.

Modelers all will employ the the same type craft in competition, Sidders said, called the Air Youth Quadrathon Plane, and will fly in four separate categories — Stunt, Speed, Endurance and Beauty. Points earned in all four events will be compiled to determine the winner.

Doctor Claims Tensions Affect Baby's Behavior

TORONTO (AP)—What makes a baby cry?

Some cry because of an atmosphere of tension in the household, the Ontario Medical Association was told Friday. Dr. D. L. Bastedo, Kitchener pediatrician, said there is an increase in colic and indigestion among infants and suggested it is due to environment.

"Such fear and anxiety motivating and underlying the emotional disturbances might well be related to society's incessant drive for sundry amenities and frills," he said.

Dr. J. J. Stevens of Toronto said a baby's behavior "is a mirror that reflects what is going on around him."

"Families cannot get along without some bickering," he said, "but if they kept in mind the side effects of irritable behavior on a baby they would think twice before giving vent to it."

Dr. A. M. Bryans, professor of pediatrics at Queen's University, noting that babies also cry from hunger, suggested enlarging nipple holes in the bottle.

Vagrancy

Robert Earl Crockett, 42, of Tallahassee, Fla., was booked Friday by Monroe police on a vagrancy count.

House Demo Blasts Stand By McNamara

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman John E. Moss, D-Calif., of the House government information subcommittee accused Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara Friday of a gross disservice to Americans with his recent statements on military information.

Moss' statement followed publication Wednesday of McNamara testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee. The testimony left the impression with some that McNamara favored releasing misleading data to conceal possible shortcomings in the Nike-Zeus missile.

Thursday a Defense Department spokesman said McNamara meant that the Russians, not Americans, should be misled. The spokesman said the defense chief believed that under no circumstances should the U.S. public be misled about any military program.

Moss, referring to McNamara's statement before the Senate committee, said the secretary had "expressed an attitude which, while not new, is nevertheless alarming."

"Advocacy of a program of misinformation constitutes a grave disservice to a nation already confused and suffering from informational malnutrition," Moss told United Press International.

"To claim perfection in a weapons system, thereby creating a false sense of security, only results in complacency complained about by the very officials who would further feed it. American people are mature and reliable. They respond correctly when informed correctly."

SWEETHEART of the Tau Kappa Epsilon chapter at Louisiana Tech is Billie Vic Bozeman of Oil City. She is a freshman majoring in education.

Hodges Returns From Six-Nation European Tour

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges returned early Friday from a six-nation European tour and prepared to report to President Kennedy and State Department officials.

The Commerce secretary said while changing planes in New York City that prospects were "very encouraging" for an increase in European trade and tourism this year.

Hodges said many potential European tourists stay away from the United States because of the erroneous impression that the country is too expensive to travel in.

"I think I was able to disabuse them of some of these ideas of high costs in the United States," Hodges said. "I pointed out to them that it costs just as much or more for hotels and food in the European cities I visited as it does in the United States."

House Demo Blasts Stand By McNamara

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman John E. Moss, D-Calif., of the House government information subcommittee accused Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara Friday of a gross disservice to Americans with his recent statements on military information.

Moss' statement followed publication Wednesday of McNamara testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee. The testimony left the impression with some that McNamara favored releasing misleading data to conceal possible shortcomings in the Nike-Zeus missile.

Thursday a Defense Department spokesman said McNamara meant that the Russians, not Americans, should be misled. The spokesman said the defense chief believed that under no circumstances should the U.S. public be misled about any military program.

Moss, referring to McNamara's statement before the Senate committee, said the secretary had "expressed an attitude which, while not new, is nevertheless alarming."

"Advocacy of a program of misinformation constitutes a grave disservice to a nation already confused and suffering from informational malnutrition," Moss told United Press International.

"To claim perfection in a weapons system, thereby creating a false sense of security, only results in complacency complained about by the very officials who would further feed it. American people are mature and reliable. They respond correctly when informed correctly."

SWEETHEART of the Tau Kappa Epsilon chapter at Louisiana Tech is Billie Vic Bozeman of Oil City. She is a freshman majoring in education.

Hodges Returns From Six-Nation European Tour

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges returned early Friday from a six-nation European tour and prepared to report to President Kennedy and State Department officials.

The Commerce secretary said while changing planes in New York City that prospects were "very encouraging" for an increase in European trade and tourism this year.

Hodges said many potential European tourists stay away from the United States because of the erroneous impression that the country is too expensive to travel in.

"I think I was able to disabuse them of some of these ideas of high costs in the United States," Hodges said. "I pointed out to them that it costs just as much or more for hotels and food in the European cities I visited as it does in the United States."

Indian Thinclads Ready To Meet GSC Challenge

Tribe, Bulldogs To Settle Score

Northeast State College welcomes track and field teams from the pine cone hills of North Louisiana to the bayou country of the South tonight at Brown Stadium as GSC forces sight in on the year's top action, the Conference meet.

Field event finals are scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock with the running events set to begin at 7:30. Javelin finals will be held at 1 p.m. today.

Coach Bob Groseclose and his Northeast Indians are favored to keep the GSC title in Monroe but strong competition will come from less than 35 miles away, in Ruston, home of Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs, with sprinter Pat Garrett, high jumper Wayne Melton, javelin man Joe Cage, and a flock of fine relay teams leading the way, have definite ideas about claiming the crows.

Northeast and Tech have met several times over the year. The Bulldogs have won a triangular meet and finished ahead of the Tribe in the Memphis relays but Northeast wo nhandily over the Canines in a three - way meet here, the Shreveport Relays, the Fort Worth Relays, the Florida Relays, the Southwestern Relays and the Northwestern Relays. The team that is 'up' for tonight's big one could be the champ.

It won't be a two - way race entirely. A strong McNeese State Cowboy outfit will be a dark - horse pick for honors.

Cowboy marathoner, Fred Norris will aim for a record in the two - mile run, and should give fans plenty of action when he ties up with Northeast's fabulous distance man Buddy Eiland in that event. Norris, 39 - year - old freshman from England, has bettered the conference's existing two - mile mark of 9:26.1 set by Eiland last year on five different occasions this season.

The Cowboys will be second only to Tech in pre - meet 440-yard relay time. The Pokes have run 42.2 and the Bulldogs, 42.1. McNeese is third in 880 yard relay time, 1:29.2. The Cowboys' top weight man is Al Nesmith, who should battle Hoy Rogers of Northeast for top honors.

Southeastern and Northwestern are expected to have a hand in tonight's race and should battle it out for the third and fourth spots.

The Lions, seemingly better with every meet late in the season, boast a sprinter of Styron caliber in lightning Bob Fanning. Fanning equalled Dave Styron's 220 mark of 21.2 in the Southeastern AAU meet.

Tech's Garrett, and Fanning should be hard to beat in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, but Clyde Dabbs of McNeese, Jay Goldsmith of the Indians and Wayne Kozan of SLC will be trying.

Northeast should own points in the 440 yard dash with Randall Walker and Jim Mouser leading the field. In the half mile run Don Eiland will be the man to beat.

Eiland and Fred Norris of McNeese should dual in the mile and two mile events with Louisiana Tech's Bob Hayes and Earl Wright high on the list.

Discus thrower and shot put ace Hoy Rogers of the host Indians will lead a group of talented field men into action.

His biggest threat will be John Price of USL, who has tossed the shot 52 ft., 8½ inches, better than Rogers' conference mark of 51 ft. 5¾ inches.

Garrett in the 100 yard dash, Eiland in the half mile, Price and Rogers in the shot put, Rogers in the discus, John Pennel, of Northeast in the pole vault and Bob Fanning in the 220 yard dash, are main threats to existing records. Most of the other marks, standing in the shadow of the Styron twins appear to be safe.

SEVENTH IN EIGHT YEARS

La. Tech Cops Another Gulf States Golf Crown

Louisiana Tech's Joe Alliet must have a green thumb when it comes to coaching winning teams. The head mentor's football achievements with the Bulldogs are the envy of the GSC as the most casual sports fan can attest.

The success label, however, is no less fitting for his golf squads as was proved yesterday when the Canine linksmen won their seventh Gulf States championship in eight years, here on the Bayou DeSiard Country Club course.

Tech, which had a bare one-stroke lead after the first of the tourney's two days, scored 885 team points to beat McNeese with 896 and Northeast with 912. Southwestern, the only other competitor this year, had 948.

Bulldog Joe Thomas led the field the second - straight day to wind up with 208 and replace team-mate Roy Pace as Gulf States conference medalist. Thomas was a good seven strokes under his nearest foe, Doug Farr of McNeese who shot 215.

Thomas squeezed in front the first day with a 106 that gave him a two-stroke lead over Northeast's Larry Tilley (108). Tilley, however, fell behind yesterday and wound up sixth with 227.

Pace was third, shooting 221, and Vohn Myers of McNeese fourth at 223.

Northeast's best was Jim Harper who closed with 225 for fifth. Top Southwestern man was Charles Palmer who was 12th with 228.

Tied for third behind Thomas and Pace on Tech's squad were Don Goodspeed, Jerry Gulledge, and Jim Paul with 228 apiece. The three had a putting duel for the last two medals given the first team, with Goodspeed getting nosed out.

Mike Fay was third for the Cowboys with 227, followed by Bobby Sharpe (231) and Henry Huehn (231).

Sonny Harper was third in Northeast's scoring with 227 and Gene Adams fourth with 233.

Behind Palmer for Southwestern were Robert Bass (234), David McLane (242), and James Kerin (242).

Tech won the title five straight years, lost in 1959 and returned to the kingpin's roost this year and last.

The Summary:

Souchak Gets Colonial Golf Lead On Par

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Mike Souchak played cautiously in a blustery wind Friday for a par 70 that snatched the lead at 36 holes in the $40,000 Colonial National invitation golf tournament.

The big football player, who won the Colonial tournament five years ago, turned in a steady round for 139 while Kel Nagle, the Australian who led the first 18 holes with a record-tying 65 that included a hole-in-one, soared to a 76. Nagle left a trail of missed greens and sour putting.

Soucha pulled into a two-stroke lead as a 20 to 30-miles-per-hour wind caused scores to soar all over the 7,041-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Arnold Palmer, the tournament favorite, complained of poor putting but had a 73 that put him into a second place tie with Nagle and Bill Casper, all with 141.

Doug Ford, who made the first nine in 33, took 38 coming in and was at 142 along with Gene Littler and Ernie Vossler. Ford had a 71, Littler 70 and Vossler 71.

"I played away from all flags and traps," Souchak said. "I was driving well and knew that in this wind the most important thing was getting the ball over the course, not putting. I could see that the others were having their troubles because there were no signs with red on them. So I just played as conservatively as I could."

He had only one long putt and that was a 16-footer that got him a par on 16. He three-putted for one bogey and was in water for another. He banged birdies on the first two holes, then settled down to the task of playing for pars.

Spahn, Three Homers Net Brave's Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Crafty old Warren Spahn, aided by three home runs, frustrated San Francisco with his pitching arm and his glove Friday night as the Milwaukee Braves trimmed the Giants 5-4.

Hank Aaron, Lee Maye and Ed Mathews socked home runs for the Braves. But Spahn, working his fifth complete game of the season, ended four Giant threats by having hitters tap back to him.

Spahn, who pitched a no-hitter the last time he faced the Giants two weeks ago, scattered eight hits.

A crowd of 35,046, anticipating another duel between Spahn and the Giants' Sam Jones, saw both shutouts destroyed in the first inning and Jones was chased in the fourth.

Aaron slammed a two-run home run in the first, his fourth of the season and his 20th and his 21st runs batted in. It scored Ed Mathews, on base with a fielder's choice.

HOBGOOD TIES IN POLE VAULT

Lafayette Wins AAA Track Title

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Leland Albright of Sulphur and Burton Garr of Bolton turned in record-breaking performances Friday but Lafayette earned the state triple-A track title with heavy strength in the relay events.

West Monroes fine pole vaulter Paul Hobgood, who got better with every meet late in the season, showed his ability in last nights big meet by doing as well as any vaulter in the state.

Hobgood soared to a height of 13 feet and finished in a four-way tie for top honors in that event.

Hobgood was the only member of Pat Riser's West Monroe Rebels, or from the Twin Cities, to take part in the AAA meet.

Lafayette compiled 46 points, mainly off its victories in the relays, with LaGrange second with 39½ points and Terrebonne third with 34.

Albright turned in a 1:59.6 clocking in the 880-yard run, eclipsing the state record of 2:00.2 set in 1955 by John Yaun of Istrouma.

Gaar's six feet, 4 and ¾ inches in the high jump broke the record of six feet, four inches he set last year.

Other winners were Dalton LeBlanc of Terrebonne, who took both 100-yard dash and the low hurdles Chester Davis of East Jefferson in the 220-yard dash; Keith Waalk of Terrebonne in the 440-yard dash; Frank Bright of Fair Park in the mile run; Charles Lancaster of Jesuit in the high hurdles.

In the field events, other winners were Ken Clark of Sulphur in the shot put; Rodney Knight of Terrebonne in the discus; Gordon Vaughn of LaGrange in the javelin; Olie Cordill of Lafayette in the broad jump; a three-way tie between Tommy Edmonson of Istrouma, Ronald Arceneaux of Lafayette and C. J. Babin of LaGrange in the pole vault; Edmonson in the hop-step and jump; and the Lafayette team in the 440-yard, 880-yard and mile relays.

Other teams totals included defending champion Byrd 31½, Fair Park 20, Istrouma 19, Baton Rouge 16, East Jefferson 13, Sulphur 11, Jesuit 10, Bossier 9½, Bolton and McDonogh 9, West Jefferson 6, Fortier 5½, Catholic 4½, Easton 4, West Monroe and De La Salle 3½, Lake Charles and Woodlawn 2, Bogalusa and New Iberia 1.

Dodgers Top Chicubs By 4-2 Margin

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Strike-out artist— Sandy Koufax turned back the Chicago Cubs Friday night 4-2, fanning 11 and allowing only four hits as the Los Angeles Dodgers took the series opener before 17,122 fans.

The victory propelled the Dodgers into a virtual tie with the San Francisco Giants for the National League leadership.

Sammy Taylor tripled in the ninth for the Cubs. Koufax filled the bases with two walks and then walked in the Cubs fifth run on a pass to Sammy Taylor.

Dick Farrel, fireballing right-hander, came in and Bob Will lined a single to left, scoring Richie Ashburn with Chicagos other run. Don Zimmer then belted a pitch off Farrells glove but second baseman Charlie Neal recovered the ball and threw him out.

Chicagos Billy Williams led off the seventh with a double off the left field screen for the Cubs first hit and Koufax then struck out the side—Ernie Banks, Ron Santo and Mel Roach.

The victory put the Dodgers a few percentage points behind San Francisco—.625 to .607.

Until the seventh, only two Cub runners got as far as second base.

Wally Moon hit his 10th home run of the season, the ninth in Memorial Coliseum, and drove in another run on a single to lead the attack on Don Cardwell.

Shortstop Maury Wills walked in the first inning and scored on Moons single to center. Again Wills walked in the third and Norm Larker singled him in with a blow to right. Wills, in the fourth, drove in Ron Fairly, who had gotten on base on a fielders choice and reached second on Koufaxs sacrifice.

Indian Thinclads Ready To Meet GSC Challenge

Tribe, Bulldogs To Settle Score

Northeast State College welcomes track and field teams from the pine cone hills of North Louisiana to the bayou country of the South tonight at Brown Stadium as GSC forces sight in on the year's top action, the Conference meet.

Field event finals are scheduled to begin at 7 o'clock with the running events set to begin at 7:30. Javelin finals will be held at 1 p.m. today.

Coach Bob Groseclose and his Northeast Indians are favored to keep the GSC title in Monroe but strong competition will come from less than 35 miles away, in Ruston, home of Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs, with sprinter Pat Garrett, high jumper Wayne Melton, javelin man Joe Cage, and a flock of fine relay teams leading the way, have definite ideas about claiming the crows.

Northeast and Tech have met several times over the year. The Bulldogs have won a triangular meet and finished ahead of the Tribe in the Memphis relays but Northeast wo nhandily over the Canines in a three - way meet here, the Shreveport Relays, the Fort Worth Relays, the Florida Relays, the Southwestern Relays and the Northwestern Relays. The team that is 'up' for tonight's big one could be the champ.

It won't be a two - way race entirely. A strong McNeese State Cowboy outfit will be a dark - horse pick for honors.

Cowboy marathoner, Fred Norris will aim for a record in the two - mile run, and should give fans plenty of action when he ties up with Northeast's fabulous distance man Buddy Eiland in that event. Norris, 39 - year - old freshman from England, has bettered the conference's existing two - mile mark of 9:26.1 set by Eiland last year on five different occasions this season.

The Cowboys will be second only to Tech in pre - meet 440-yard relay time. The Pokes have run 42.2 and the Bulldogs, 42.1. McNeese is third in 880 yard relay time, 1:29.2. The Cowboys' top weight man is Al Nesmith, who should battle Hoy Rogers of Northeast for top honors.

Southeastern and Northwestern are expected to have a hand in tonight's race and should batfle it out for the third and fourth spots.

The Lions, seemingly better with every meet late in the season, boast a sprinter of Styron caliber in lightning Bob Fanning. Fanning equalled Dave Styron's 220 mark of 21.2 in the Southeastern AAU meet.

Tech's Garrett, and Fanning should be hard to beat in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, but Clyde Dabbs of McNeese, Jay Goldsmith of the Indians and Wayne Kozan of SLC will be trying.

Northeast should own points in the 440 yard dash with Randall Walker and Jim Mouser leading the field. In the half mile run Don Eiland will be the man to beat.

Eiland and Fred Norris of McNeese should dual in the mile and two mile events with Louisiana Tech's Bob Hayes and Earl Wright high on the list.

Discus thrower and shot put ace Hoy Rogers of the host Indians will lead a group of talented field men into action.

His biggest threat will be John Price of USL, who has tossed the shot 52 ft., 8½ inches, better than Rogers' conference mark of 51 ft. 5¾ inches.

Garrett in the 100 yard dash, Eiland in the half mile, Price and Rogers in the shot put, Rogers in the discus, John Pennel, of Northeast in the pole vault and Bob Fanning in the 220 yard dash, are main threats to existing records. Most of the other marks, standing in the shadow of the Styron twins appear to be safe.

SEVENTH IN EIGHT YEARS

La. Tech Cops Another Gulf States Golf Crown

Louisiana Tech's Joe Alliet must have a green thumb when it comes to coaching winning teams. The head mentor's football achievements with the Bulldogs are the envy of the GSC as the most casual sports fan can attest.

The success label, however, is no less fitting for his golf squads as was proved yesterday when the Canine linksmen won their seventh Gulf States championship in eight years, here on the Bayou DeSiard Country Club course.

Tech, which had a bare one-stroke lead after the first of the tourney's two days, scored 885 team points to beat McNeese with 896 and Northeast with 912. Southwestern, the only other competitor this year, had 948.

Bulldog Joe Thomas led the field the second - straight day to wind up with 208 and replace team-mate Roy Pace as Gulf States conference medalist. Thomas was a good seven strokes under his nearest foe, Doug Farr of McNeese who shot 215.

Thomas squeezed in front the first day with a 106 that gave him a two-stroke lead over Northeast's Larry Tilley (108). Tilley, however, fell behind yesterday and wound up sixth with 227.

Pace was third, shooting 221, and Vohn Myers of McNeese fourth at 223.

Northeast's best was Jim Harper who closed with 225 for fifth. Top Southwestern man was Charles Palmer who was 12th with 228.

Tied for third behind Thomas and Pace on Tech's squad were Don Goodspeed, Jerry Gulledge, and Jim Paul with 228 apiece. The three had a putting duel for the last two medals given the first team, with Goodspeed getting nosed out.

Mike Fay was third for the Cowboys with 227, followed by Bobby Sharpe (231) and Henry Huehn (231).

Sonny Harper was third in Northeast's scoring with 227 and Gene Adams fourth with 233.

Behind Palmer for Southwestern were Robert Bass (234), David McLane (242), and James Kerin (242).

Tech won the title five straight years, lost in 1959 and returned to the kingpin's roost this year and last.

The Summary:

Souchak Gets Colonial Golf Lead On Par

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Mike Souchak played cautiously in a blustery wind Friday for a par 70 that snatched the lead at 36 holes in the $40,000 Colonial National invitation golf tournament.

The big football player, who won the Colonial tournament five years ago, turned in a steady round for 139 while Kel Nagle, the Australian who led the first 18 holes with a record-tying 65 that included a hole-in-one, soared to a 76. Nagle left a trail of missed greens and sour putting.

Soucha pulled into a two-stroke lead as a 20 to 30-miles-per-hour wind caused scores to soar all over the 7,041-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Arnold Palmer, the tournament favorite, complained of poor putting but had a 73 that put him into a second place tie with Nagle and Bill Casper, all with 141.

Doug Ford, who made the first nine in 33, took 38 coming in and was at 142 along with Gene Littler and Ernie Vossler. Ford had a 71, Littler 70 and Vossler 71.

"I played away from all flags and traps," Souchak said. "I was driving well and knew that in this wind the most important thing was getting the ball over the course, not putting. I could see that the others were having their troubles because there were no signs with red on them. So I just played as conservatively as I could."

He had only one long putt and that was a 16-footer that got him a par on 16. He three-putted for one bogey and was in water for another. He banged birdies on the first two holes, then settled down to the task of playing for pars.

Spahn, Three Homers Net Brave's Win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Crafty old Warren Spahn, aided by three home runs, frustrated San Francisco with his pitching arm and his glove Friday night as the Milwaukee Braves trimmed the Giants 5-4.

Hank Aaron, Lee Maye and Ed Mathews socked home runs for the Braves. But Spahn, working his fifth complete game of the season, ended four Giant threats by having hitters tap back to him.

Spahn, who pitched a no-hitter the last time he faced the Giants two weeks ago, scattered eight hits.

A crowd of 35,046, anticipating another duel between Spahn and the Giants' Sam Jones, saw both shutouts destroyed in the first inning and Jones was chased in the fourth.

Aaron slammed a two-run home run in the first, his fourth of the season and his 20th and his 21st runs batted in. It scored Ed Matthew, on base with a fielder's choice.

HOBGOOD TIES IN POLE VAULT

Lafayette Wins AAA Track Title

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Leland Albright of Sulphur and Burton Garr of Bolton turned in record-breaking performances Friday but Lafayette earned the state triple-A track title with heavy strength in the relay events.

Lafayette compiled 46 points, mainly off its victories in the relays, with LaGrange second with 39½ points and Terrebonne third with 34.

Albright turned in a 1:59.6 clocking in the 880-yard run, eclipsing the state record of 2:00.2 set in 1955 by John Yaun of Istrouma.

Gaar's six feet, 4 and ¾ inches in the high jump broke the record of six feet, four inches he set last year.

Other winners were Dalton LeBlanc of Terrebonne, who took both 100-yard dash and the low hurdles Chester Davis of East Jefferson in the 220-yard dash; Keith Waalk of Terrebonne in the 440-yard dash; Frank Bright of Fair Park in the mile run; Charles Lancaster of Jesuit in the high hurdles.

In the field events, other winners were Ken Clark of Sulphur in the shot put; Rodney Knight of Terrebonne in the discus; Gordon Vaughn of LaGrange in the javelin; Olie Cordill of Lafayette in the broad jump; a three-way tie between Tommy Edmonson of Istrouma, Ronald Arceneaux of Lafayette and C. J. Babin of LaGrange in the pole vault; Edmonson in the hop-step and jump; and the Lafayette team in the 440-yard, 880-yard and mile relays.

Other teams totals included defending champion Byrd 31½, Fair Park 20, Istrouma 19, Baton Rouge 16, East Jefferson 13, Sulphur 11, Jesuit 10, Bossier 9½, Bolton and McDonogh 9, West Jefferson 6, Fortier 5½, Catholic 4½, Easton 4, West Monroe and De La Salle 3½, Lake Charles and Woodlawn 2, Bogalusa and New Iberia 1.

West Monroes fine pole vaulter Paul Hobgood, who got better with every meet late in the season, showed his ability in last nights big meet by doing as well as any vaulter in the state.

Hobgood soared to a height of 13 feet and finished in a four-way tie for top honors in that event.

Dodgers Top Chicubs By 4-2 Margin

LOS ANGELES (AP) Strikeout artist— Sandy Koufax turned back the Chicago Cubs Friday night 4-2, fanning 11 and allowing only four hits as the Los Angeles Dodgers took the series opener before 17,122 fans.

The victory propelled the Dodgers into a virtual tie with the San Francisco Giants for the National League leadership.

Sammy Taylor tripled in the ninth for the Cubs. Koufax filled the bases with two walks and then walked in the Cubs fifth run on a pass to Sammy Taylor.

Dick Farrel, fireballing righthander, came in and Bob Will lined a single to left, scoring Richie Ashburn with Chicagos other run. Don Zimmer then belted a pitch off Farrells glove but second baseman Charlie Neal recovered the ball and threw him out.

Chicagos Billy Williams led off the seventh with a double off the left field screen for the Cubs first hit and Koufax then struck out the side—Ernie Banks, Ron Santo and Mel Roach.

The victory put the Dodgers a few percentage points behind San Francisco—.625 to .607.

Until the seventh, only two Cub runners got as far as second base.

Wally Moon hit his 10th home run of the season, the ninth in Memorial Coliseum, and drove in another run on a single to lead the attack on Don Cardwell.

Shortstop Maury Wills walked in the first inning and scored on Moons single to center. Again, Wills walked in the third and Norm Larker singled him in with a blow to right. Wills, in the fourth, drove in Ron Fairly, who had gotten on base on a fielders choice and reached second on Koufaxs sacrifice.

VINCENTE HERNANDEZ of McNeese State slams a hard return from close up in yesterday's No. 1 doubles final with Louisiana Tech. McNeese won the match over Bulldogs Thay Butchee and Bob Mosley after three rugged sets. Federico Zarazua, behind and to left, is set to help Hernandez if necessary. SCORE 30 TO 20 FOR TECH

Cowboys Take GSC Tennis Title 4th Straight Year

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

McNeese State, led by its peerless Mexican triumvirate, walked off with its fourth straight Gulf States tennis championship here yesterday.

The Cowboys won four single matches and both doubles to score 30 points against 20 for second place Louisiana Tech. Northeast and Southwestern tied for third with 3 apiece.

Federico Zarazua and Vincento Hernandez of McNeese closed out a fabulous college career taking all their singles and doubles, but were bitterly pressed in a grueling doubles finale with Tech's Thay Butchee and Bob Mosely. The two have never lost a GSC doubles match and Zarazua is unbeaten in Conference singles play.

Carlos Perez, the third man of the trio, also wound up in a blaze of glory, winning the number three singles over Tech's Robert Taylor with ease (6-3,6-2), and combining with Jim Brown to take the number two doubles title. Glenn Guillory downed Bulldog Gene Bass (6-4,6-4) for McNeese's other singles win. Tech's lone first came on Lance Scott's (7-5,6-2) trashing of Larry Case of Southwestern, the only player to defeat a McNeese man. Case had earlier whipped Brown in number four doubles.

BEAUTIFUL TEAMWORK

The Zarazua - Hernandez duo exploded through their first doubles set with Tech, winning in 1/2 time 6-0 with a brillant display of teamwork that had the spectators agog.

Tech bounced back to take the second set 6-2, and matched the Mexicans point-for-point through the final series before finally losing 7-5.

Butchee and Mosely rallied from a 1-4 deteceit in the third set to go ahead 5-4. They were tied at 5-5 and the "Tennis Twins" came through to take the final two.

Zarazua had beaten the rugged little Butchee earlier in the number one singles (6-3, 6-4) but seemed to be playing a somewhat slower game than the day before.

When the doubles opened however, he and Hernandez resumed all of their old sparkle to completely vanquish their opponents on a spectacular performance in the first set.

POKES SWEEP SINGLES

Hernandez routed Northeast' Kirk Fisher 6-0,6-2 to win the number two singles. Fisher, a day earlier, astonished the experts with his upset over Mosley.

Perez and Brown of McNeese shackled Tech's Scott - Bass to a 6-1, 6-4 defeat in the number two doubles after thumping Northeast's Bill Ulmer and Pete Vincent 6-0, 6-1.

McNeese's number one doubles pair whitewashed Southeast's Pete Sall and Dale Williams 6-0,6-0 in their doubles opener while Butchee and Mosley worked over Bob Lange and Frank Mineville of Southwestern 6-2,6-0.

The Summary
No. 1 Singles: Federico Zaracua, McNeese, beat Thay Butchee, Tech 6-3, 6-4 (final).
No. 2 Singles: Vincente Hernandez, McNeese, beat Kirk Fisher, NE, 6-0, 6-2 (final).

Wynn Hurls Chisox Past Kansas City

CHICAGO (AP)—Veteran Early Wynn hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 2-1 victory Friday night, turning back the Kansas City A's with a nifty four-hitter.

The 41-year-old right-hander, oldest active player in the majors, recorded his third victory of the season against one loss and the 287th triumph of his illustrious career.

Chicago scored the winning run in the fifth on singles by Camilo Carreon and Wynn, a walk and an infield out by Nellie Fox.

Wynn gave up a game-starting double to shortstop Dick Howser which blossomed into Kansas City's only run and then was reached for harmless singles by Norm Siebern and Andy Carey in the second.

Victim of Wynn's masterful job was rookie right-hander Norm Bass.

Gentile Sparks Orioles To Win

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Gentile drove in two runs with his 11th homer and Brooks Robinson got three singles in four trips to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 4-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians Friday night.

Gentile's fourth inning clout gave him the American League home run lead and boosted his league-leading RBI total to 35. It was the first start this season for the left-handed batter against a southpaw pitcher.

The victory went to Jack Fisher, who finished strong to win his first game in three decisions. The 22-year-old right-hander gave up six hits in the first four innings and then retired 14 batters in a row before Jim Piersall reached first base on a throwing error by shortstop Jerry Adair in the ninth.

Johnny Antonelli, making his fifth try for his first American League victory, lost his fourth. The 31-year-old southpaw gave up seven hits and the Orioles' four runs in the 3 1-3 innings he worked.

Barry Latman and Frank Funk blanked the Birds on three hits over the last 5 2-3 innings.

The Indians broke on top with a run in the first inning on three consecutive singles after the first two batters had been retired.

Baltimore took the lead with two runs in the third on a walk, two singles, an error and a sacrifice fly. They added two more in the fourth on Gentile's smash over the right field fence after Brooks Robinson led off with a single.

Cleveland got its other run in the ninth when Piersall, leading off, reached first on Adair's error, moved to third on a single by Willie Kirkland and scored on a sacrifice fly by Vic Power.

BATON ROUGE, La. (Special)—Amite took fourth place in the day's final event, the discus, and edged University High of Baton Rouge by a half point to win the state class A track championship here Friday afternoon, 39½ points to 39.

LARY DOES JOB

Tigers Pad Lead, Beat Yanks, 4-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Right-hander Frank Lary continued his whammy over the New York Yankees by slugging a tie-breaking home run in the ninth inning that gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 victory Friday night and a 3½-game lead in the American League race.

The home run, off losing reliever Jim Coates, opened up the ninth and came on the heels of a [illegible] that wound up with Tiger [illegible] Rocky Colavito ejected from the game for leaving [illegible] and Detroit playing under protest.

Colavito, a native of the Bronx, in which Yankee stadium is located, ran into the stands when he saw a fan take a swing at his father. The young Colavito was coming in from the outfield at the end of the eighth inning when he spotted the fight in the stands.

He said later that the fight actually had been broken up by police before he left the field of play to enter the stands.

Lary's shot, into the left field seats, was his first of the year and made him the first five-game winner in the AL with his second victory over the second-place Yanks. The 30-year-old veteran now has a 5-8 lifetime record against New York and has the best percentage (.758) ever run up against the Yankees.

The Yankees, who had won six in a row at home after an opening day loss, came from behind on Hector Lopez' two-run homer in the fourth and took a 3-1 lead in the fifth. They got the edge on a single by Tony Kubek, who had three of their 11 hits off Lary, and a double by Yogi Berra, who was observing his 36th birthday.

Balding Tittle Has Dander Up, Set For Action

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Balding, 34-year-old Y. A. Tittle, the long time in-the-pocket quarterback of the San Francisco 49ers, said Friday "my dander is up" and he's determined to show he can play the more vigorous "shotgun offense."

There has been talk that the aging Tittle no longer fitted into the 49er quarterback plans because, in the shotgun offense, the signal caller stands well back, with no pocket protection, and must be nimble enough to run with the ball if he can't pass it.

"It is a matter of pride now," Tittle said.

Buc Power Dumps Reds By 8-5 Score

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Home runs by Rocky Nelson and Dick Stuart powered the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-5 victory over Cincinnati Friday night and ended the Redlegs winning streak at nine games.

Nelson's three-run homer into the upper deck of the right field stands in the third put Pittsburgh in front 4-1.

It was the third home run for the season for Nelson, who had a perfect night at the plate with his homer, a double and a single in three trips to the plate.

Pinch hitter Stuart's homer over the left field wall in the fifth scored three runs, snapped a 5-5 tie and gave the Pirates their winning margin.

Credit for the victory went to southpaw reliever Bobby Shantz, who pitched the last four innings and gave up only two singles.

It was Shantz' first victory of the season.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell started on the mound for the Pirates but was clobbered for all five Redleg runs and nine hits before he was lifted in the fifth. Hal Bevan and Frank Robinson hit solo homers off Mizell.

Cincinnati starter Bob Purkey yielded seven hits and four runs in the three innings that he worked. The loss was charged to Marshall Bridges, who yielded the key homer by Stuart in the fifth.

The victory elevated Pittsburgh into third place by a few percentage points and dropped Cincinnati into fourth.

SCORE 30 TO 20 FOR TECH

Cowboys Take GSC Tennis Title 4th Straight Year

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor

McNeese State, led by its peerless Mexican triumvirate, walked off with its fourth straight Gulf States tennis championship here yesterday.

The Cowboys won four single matches and both doubles to score 30 points against 20 for second place Louisiana Tech. Northeast and Southwestern tied for third with 3 apiece.

Federico Zarazua and Vincento Hernandez of McNeese closed out a fabulous college career, taking all their singles and doubles, but were bitterly pressed in a grueling doubles finalle with Tech's Thay Butchee and Bob Mosely. The two have never lost a GSC doubles match and Zarazua is unbeaten in Conference singles play.

Carlos Perez, the third man of the trio, also wound up in a blaze of glory, winning the number three singles over Tech's Robert Taylor with ease (6-3,6-2), and combining with Jim Brown to take the number two doubles title. Glenn Guillory downed Bulldog Gene Bass (6-4,6-4) for McNeese's other singles win. Tech's lone first came on Lance Scott's (7-5,6-2) trashing of Larry Case of Southwestern, the only player to defeat a McNeese man. Case had earlier whipped Brown in number four doubles.

BEAUTIFUL TEAMWORK

The Zarazua - Hernandez duo exploded through their first doubles set with Tech, winning in jig-time 6-0 with a brillant display of teamwork that had the spectators agog.

Tech bounced back to take the second set 6-2, and matched the Mexicans point-for-point through the final series before finally losing 5-7.

Butchee and Mosely rallied from a 1-4 defecit in the third set to go ahead 5-4. They were tied at 5-5 and the "Tennis Twins" came through to take the final two.

Zarazua had beaten the rugged little Butchee earlier in the number one singles (6-3, 6-4), but seemed to be playing a somewhat slower game than the day before.

When the doubles opened however, he and Hernandez resumed all of their old sparkle to completely vanquish their opponents on a spectacular performance in the first set.

POKES SWEEP SINGLES

Hernandez routed Northeast' Kirk Fisher 6-0,6-2 to win the number two singles. Fisher, a day earlier, astounded the experts with his upset over Mosley.

Perez and Brown of McNeese shackled Tech's Scott - Bass to a 6-1, 6-4 defeat in the number two doubles after thumping Northeast's Bill Ulmer and Pete Vincent 6-0, 6-1.

McNeese's number one doubles pair whitewashed Southeast's Pete Saal and Dale Williams 6-0,6-0 in their doubles opener while Butchee and Mosley worked over Bob Lange and Frank Mineville of Southwestern 6-2,6-0.

Wynn Hurls Chisox Past Kansas City

CHICAGO (AP)—Veteran Early Wynn hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 2-1 victory Friday night, turning back the Kansas City A's with a nifty four-hitter.

The 41-year-old right-hander, oldest active player in the majors, recorded his third victory of the season against one loss and the 287th triumph of his illustrious career.

Chicago scored the winning run in the fifth on singles by Camilio Carreon and Wynn, a walk and an infield out by Nellie Fox.

Wynn gave up a game-starting double to shortstop Dick Howser which blossomed into Kansas Citys only run and then was reached for harmless singles by Norm Siebern and Andy Carey in the second.

Victim of Wynns masterful job was rookie right-hander Norm Bass.

Gentile Sparks Orioles To Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Gentile drove in two runs with his 1th homer and Brooks Robinson got three singles in four trips to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 4-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians Friday night.

Gentile's fourth inning clout gave him the American League home run lead and boosted his league-leading RBI total to 35. It was the first start this season for the left-handed batter against a southpaw pitcher.

The victory went to Jack Fisher, who finished strong to win his first game in three decisions. The 22-year-old right-hander gave up six hits in the first four innings and then retired 14 batters in a row before Jim Piersall reached first base on a throwing error by shortstop Jerry Adair in the ninth.

Johnny Antonelli, making his fifth try for his first American League victory, lost his fourth. The 31-year-old southpaw gave up seven hits and the Orioles' four runs in the 3 1-3 innings he worked.

Barry Latman and Frank Funk blanked the Birds on three hits over the last 5 2-3 frames.

The Indians broke on top with a run in the first inning on three consecutive singles after the first two batters had been retired.

Baltimore took the lead with two runs in the third on a walk, two singles, an error and a sacrifice fly. They added two more in the fourth on Gentile's smash over the right field fence after Brooks Robinson led off with a single.

Cleveland got its other run in the ninth when Piersall, leading off, reached first on Adair's error, moved to third on a single by Willie Kirkland and scored on a sacrifice fly by Vic Power.

Tigers Grab SEC Crown With 6-5 Win

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana State won the Southeastern Conference baseball title Friday by rallying for two runs in the 11th inning to edge Auburn 6-5.

LSU, champion of the western division, won the opener in the best of three series from Auburn, the eastern division winner.

The tying run came when John Thomas singled to center and the ball went through center-fielder Larry Nichols, allowing Tommy Demont to score. The winning run came on Bobby Theriot's single which sent John Bailey home.

The victory entitled LSU to go to the regional NCAA playoff at Gastonia, N. C., but there was no announcement whether the new SEC champions would go.

Lynn Amedee, sophomore pitching star, went all the way for LSU, giving up 10 hits.

Bailey sent LSU off to a good start with a 3-run homer in the first.

Auburn tagged Amedee for three homers. Nichols had a 2-run homer in the eighth, Joe Wood hit a solo homer in the ninth with two out to tie the score at 4-4 and Wayne Fowler had a bases-empty homer in the 11th to send Auburn ahead momentarily 5-4.

Amite Champion In Track Meet For Class A

BATON ROUGE, La. (Special) — Amite took fourth place in the day's final event, the discus, and edged University High of Baton Rouge by a half point to win the state class A track championship here Friday afternoon, 39½ points to 39.

University High pulled ahead of favored Amite on the day's second-to-last event, the hop-step-jump, before Amite's Guy Houston whirled the discus 129 feet, 4¼ inches to finish fourth and grabbed the two points that gave his school the title.

Defending champion Tallulah scored 20 points to finish sixth in the meet, held on the LSU track. The Trojans from north Louisiana shared one first place, the pole vault where Donald Bennett went 11 feet to match two other thinclads, and came in second in the mile where defending champ Allan Laird finished behind Catholic of Donaldsonville's Sylvester Waguesback, the winner with a 4:38.9 clocking.

Tigers Pad Lead, Beat Yanks, 4-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Right-hander Frank Lary continued his whammy over the New York Yankees by slugging a tie-breaking home run in the ninth inning that gave the Detroit Tigers a 4-3 victory Friday night and a 3½-game lead in the American League race.

The home run, off losing reliever Jim Coates, opened up the ninth and came on the heels of a player-fan fuss that wound up with Tiger slugger Rocky Colavito ejected from the game for leaving the field and Detroit playing under protest.

Colavito, a native of the Bronx, in which Yankee stadium is located, ran into the stands when he saw a fan take a swing at his father. The young Colavito was coming in from the outfield at the end of the eighth inning when he spotted the fight in the stands.

He said later that the fight actually had been broken up by police before he left the field of play to enter the stands.

Larys shot, into the left field seats, was his first of the year and made him the first five-game winner in the AL with his second victory over the second-place Yanks. The 30-year-old veteran now has a 5-8 lifetime record against New York and has the best percentage (.758) ever run up against the Yankees.

The Yankees, who had won six in a row at home after an opening day loss, came from behind on Hector Lopez two-run homer in the fourth and took a 3-1 lead in the fifth. They got the edge on a single by Tony Kubek, who had three of their 11 hits off Lary, and a double by Yogi Berra, who was observing his 36th birthday.

Balding Tittle Has Dander Up, Set For Action

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bolding, 34-year-old Y. A. Tittle, the long time in-the-pocket quarterback of the San Francisco 49ers, said Friday "my dander is up" and he's determined to show he can play the more vigorous "shotgun offense."

There has been talk that the aging Tittle no longer fitted into the 49er quarterback plans because, in the shotgun offense, the signal caller stands well back, with no pocket protection, and must be nimble enough to run with the ball if he can't pass it.

"It is a matter of pride now," Tittle said.

Buc Power Dumps Reds By 8-5 Score

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Home runs by Rocky Nelson and Dick Stuart powered the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 8-5 victory over Cincinnati Friday night and ended the Redlegs winning streak at nine games.

Nelson's three-run homer into the upper deck of the right field stands in the third put Pittsburgh in front 4-1.

It was the third home run for the season for Nelson, who had a perfect night at the plate with his homer, a double and a single in three trips to the plate.

Pinch hitter Stuart's homer over the left field wall in the fifth scored three runs, snapped a 5-5 tie and gave the Pirates their winning margin.

Credit for the victory went to southpaw reliever Bobby Shantz, who pitched the last four innings and gave up only two singles.

It was Shantz' first victory of the season.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell started on the mound for the Pirates but was clobbered for all five Redleg runs and nine hits before he was lifted in the fifth. Hal Bevan and Frank Robinson hit solo homers off Mizell.

Cincinnati starter Bob Purkey yielded seven hits and four runs in the three innings that he worked. The loss was charged to Marshall Bridges, who yielded the key homer by Stuart in the fifth.

The victory elevated Pittsburgh into third place by a few percentage points and dropped Cincinnati into fourth.

Courtland Gray Sets Two Records In AA Track Meet

NATCHITOCHES (Special) — Six records were shattered as Abbeville High School captured Louisiana Class AA high school championship in bright sunshine Friday afternoon in Northwestern State College's Demon Stadium.

The Wildcats of Abbeville racked-up 55½ points in taking the team crown. Behrman of New Orleans won the runner-up trophy with 35½ points. Rounding out the top five were Pineville with 26½ and Natchitoches and Neville with 24 apiece.

Abbeville gained its crown by notching three first places, three seconds, one third, two fourths, and five fifths. Wildcat Don Sehon won two of the first places with a record 22-11½ leap in the broad jump and a 44 - 10 in the hop-step-jump. # Phillies Lose Another, 5-1 To St. Louis

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The punchless Philadelphia Phillies equaled their longest losing streak since 1956 Friday night when they dropped their 10th straight game 5-1 Friday night to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rookie Don Landrum hit an inside the park home run in the seventh inning for the Cardinals, who broke up a scoreless mound duel between Ernie Broglio and the Phillies' John Buzhardt in the sixth with a three-run ruckus that featured Daryl Spencer's two-run single with the bases loaded.

Thus Broglio squared himself on the season at 3-3 while Buzhardt went down to his third defeat in a row. He has yet to win a game.

Landrum's first round - tripper as a Cardinal was something to remember. The outfielder walloped a long drive to right center. The ball hit the catwalk at the bottom of hte scoreboard (10 feet above the ground) and rolled around out of Tony Gonzalez' reach just long enough for Landrum to speed around the bases.

Pancho Herrera ended 15 scoreless innings for the Phillies with a home run blast atop the roof in left center. It was his third hit of the campaign.

Auburn, Tigs In Top Show For Track Go

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — Auburn made a strong showing in qualifying events of the Southeastern Conference track and field meet Friday.

The Tigers qualified 14 athletes for final of this 29th annual meet. Louisiana State qualified 12 while Alabama and Vandy had nine qualifiers apiece. Mississippi State, Georgia Tech and Florida each qualified five athletes.

ONE OF MCNEESE State's most versatile track men in tonight's Gulf States Conference meet will be Fred Thompson, senior from Stinnett, Texas. Thompson will probably run on the two shorter relays and participate in the broad jump and low hurdles. Thompson and Cowboy teammates are dark horse threats to defending champion Northeast.

Ramos Stars In Twins' Victory

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —Pitcher Pete Ramos abandoned his switch hitting tactics Friday and drove in three runs in the Minnesota Twins' 5-4 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels.

The Cuban hurler, who says he is hitting right-handed to take advantage of the wind blowing toward left field, poled his first homer of the season to tie the score at 3-3 in the fifth inning and singled home the winning run in the sixth.

Ramos struck out eight in running his season record to 3-2. He needed ninth inning relief from Ray Moore after Earl Averill led off the frame with his sixth homer.

Angels Manager Bill Rigney was ejected in the seventh when he protested a called strike on Albie Pearson.

Ken Hunt's fifth home run with Leon Wagner aboard gave the Angels a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning. It was the first hit of the game.

Grba's first 1961 hit—a 330-foot homer over the left field fence in the fifth—put the Angels back into the lead, but Ramos' blast tied the game again.

Little Boys Baseball

Two games were played in the Little Boys League last night.

In the Northside League Bancroft beat People's Loan 12-6. The winning battery was Gary Rankin and Rickey Gates. Gary Lewis got two for three for the winners. The losing battery was Gary Brewster and Karl Pearson. Randy Russell got two for three for the losers.

In the Southside division First National won by 9-3 over Colberts. Jimmy White and Clint Barnett were the winning battery and Terry Danna and Ray Barnette were the losers. Wayne Ashley got a double for First National and Mark Fuller went 2 for 3 for the losers.

Sox Pitcher Too Much For Solons, 2-1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill Monbouquette struck out 17 batters, one shy of the modern major league record, as he pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators Friday night.

The 17 strikeouts removed from the Red Sox book a 50-year-old record. Smokey Joe Wood set the club mark of 15 strikeouts in 1911.

The modern major league record is 18, set by Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians in 1938 and tied by Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1959.

Monbouquette's feat, matched earlier this season by Art Mahaffey of the Philadelphia Phillies, also goes down as a record for a night game in the American League. The previous high of 14 was held by four pitchers—Feller, Bob Turley, Early Wynn and Jim Bunning.

Ironically, the Senators outhit the Red Sox 5-2. The Sox got both hits off Pete Burnside, who went seven innings and lost his second game. He has no victories. Burnside walked six and struck out three.

Monbouquette, now 2-3 for the season, walked four. The run off him, which came in the ninth inning, was unearned.

Courtland Gray Sets Two Records In AA Track Meet

NATCHITOCHES (Special) — Six records were shattered as Abbeville High School captured Louisiana Class AA high school championship in bright sunshine Friday afternoon in Northwestern State College's Demon Stadium.

The Wildcats of Abbeville rack-up 55½ points in taking the team crown. Behrman of New Orleans won the runner-up trophy with 35½ points. Rounding out the top five were Pineville with 26½ and Natchitoches and Neville with 24 apiece.

Abbeville gained its crown by notching three first places, three seconds, one third, two fourths, and five fifths. Wildcat Don Sehon won two of the first places with a record 22-11½ leap in the broad jump and a 44 - 10 in the hop-step-jump. The other first was recorded by the 880-yard relay team with a time of 1:31.2.

One composite record was broken with Edwin Greer of Minden raced to victory in the mile run with a clocking of 4:27.8. The old record among all high schools regardless of class was 4:31.1, set by Glynn Hartsell of Haynesville in 1958.

In addition to Abbeville's Sehon, other double winners were Reggie Day of Homer and Courtland Gay of Neville. Day won the century in 9.8 and the 220-yard dash in 21.7; Gray set a pair of records with a :14.5 in the high hurdles and a :19.5 in the lows.

The two timber records by Gray, the broad jump mark by Sehon, and the mile record by Greer have company in the record books with a 12-4 pole vault by Eddie McGinnis of Marion and the 440-yard relay mark of :43.4 set by the Behrman team of George Hebert, Zigfreid Hanbacker, Roger Miles and Billy Dore.

Sox Pitcher Too Much For Solons, 2-1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill Monbouquette struck out 17 batters, one shy of the modern major league record, as he pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators Friday night.

The 17 strikeouts removed from the Red Sox book a 50-year-old record. Smokey Joe Wood set the club mark of 15 strikeouts in 1911.

The modern major league record is 18, set by Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians in 1938 and tied by Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1959.

Monbouquette's feat, matched earlier this season by Art Mahaffey of the Philadelphia Phillies, also goes down as a record for a night game in the American League. The previous high of 14 was held by four pitchers—Feller, Bob Turley, Early Wynn and Jim Bunning.

Ironically, the Senators outhit the Red Sox 5-2. The Sox got both hits off Pete Burnside, who went seven innings and lost his second game. He has no victories. Burnside walked six and struck out three.

Monbouquette, now 2-3 for the season, walked four. The run off him, which came in the ninth inning, was unearned.

Phillies Lose Another, 5-1 To St. Louis

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The punchless Philadelphia Phillies equaled their longest losing streak since 1956 Friday night when they dropped their 10th straight game 5-1 Friday night to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Rookie Don Landrum hit an inside the park home run in the seventh inning for the Cardinals, who broke up a scoreless mound duel between Ernie Broglio and the Phillies' John Buzhardt in the sixth with a three-run ruckus that featured Daryl Spencer's two-run single with the bases loaded.

Thus Broglio squared himself on the season at 3-3 while Buzhardt went down to his third defeat in a row. He has yet to win a game.

Landrum's first round - tripper as a Cardinal was something to remember. The outfielder walloped a long drive to right center. The ball hit the catwalk at the bottom of hte scoreboard (10 feet above the ground) and rolled around out of Tony Gonzalez' reach just long enough for Landrum to speed around the bases.

Pancho Herrera ended 15 scoreless innings for the Phillies with a home run blast atop the roof in left center. It was his third hit of the campaign.

Ramos Stars In Twins' Victory

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) —Pitcher Pete Ramos abandoned his switch hitting tactics Friday and drove in three runs in the Minnesota Twins' 5-4 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels.

The Cuban hurler, who says he is hitting right-handed to take advantage of the wind blowing toward left field, poled his first homer of the season to tie the score at 3-3 in the fifth inning and singled home the winning run in the sixth.

Ramos struck out eight in running his season record to 3-2. He needed ninth inning relief from Ray Moore after Earl Averill led off the frame with his sixth homer.

Angels Manager Bill Rigney was ejected in the seventh when he protested a called strike on Albie Pearson.

Ken Hunt's fifth home run with Leon Wagner aboard gave the Angels a 2-0 lead in the fourth inning. It was the first hit of the game.

The Twins finally got to losing pitcher Eli Grba for a pair of runs in the last of the fourth on a walk, Earl Battey's single and Jim Lemon's two-run double.

Grba's first 1961 hit—a 330-foot homer over the left field fence in the fifth—put the Angels back into the lead, but Ramos' blast tied the game again.

Look For

... new fabric ideas in play clothes, with denim in tank tops and brief skirts over shorts, and striped ticking patio dresses.

... return of the really big hat for summer, with brims that extend beyond the shoulders, in cartwheel straws and romantic pique ripples.

... the very long torso combined with the sharply flared skirt, for those who want something really different, not just a little bit.

... combination fabrics in summer patterns, from hats right down to shoes, in bold widths and bolder colors, as many as five or six.

... the tall pillbox hat, called a coif, with a four - tiered crown, made by folding the fabric, worn further back than its turban cousin.

... new fabrics for summer coats, which are fast becoming important, what with air conditioning in heavy cottons and bright burlap.

... nautical and sportswear look in summer sleepwear, with sailor blouses over knee-length sailor pants, shorts-'n'-tops in stripes.

... coats whose low skirt flare repeats the skirt flare of the costume beneath, or very wide coats over narrow sheaths.

... new jacket treatments on suits and costumes, with side closings, scalloped and notched edges cutaway silhouettes.

... new version of the two-piece costume, with the overblouse covering a camisole topped dress that can go on to little parties.

... sissy shirts due for another strong summer, in fine pima cotton, now in pastels as well as white, with ruffles, lace and eyelet.

... the one - sided look, with white dresses striped down one side only, or with five color blocks down one side, or a row of big buttons.

Full Circle

NEW YORK (UPI) — The past year is likely to go down in collecting history as that of the great invasion from Europe, reports a newsletter about "objets d'art."

It sems European dealers flocked to America to recapture at record prices art treasures and antique collections brought to Yankee - land by Europeans in decades past. The dealers returned the treasures to European art stalls and sold most of them back to Americans abroad who promptly returned them to the United States.

Tips For Women Who Wear Glasses

Women who wear glasses today no longer haves to feel that their attractiveness is being handicapped. With new, stylish frames to choose from, many women not only look attractive in glasses, but in some cases their appearance is actually improved.

To help you look your best when wearing glasses, here are a few make-up tips. Avoid exaggerated bangs. Instead, sweep your hair to one side to reveal a larger forehead area. When applying eye make-up, keep in mind that glasses draw attention to your eyes, and also, that lenses tend to magnify your make-up and emphasize any untidy applications. Therefore, be careful to apply eyeshadow, eyeliner, and mascara with expert deftness. Accentuate the arch of your eyebrows, but still keep them natural-looking. Blend rouge carefully, making sure not to concentrate the color too close to your frames. Wear earrings that are in proportion to your face. Choose glasses in the right size and shape. If frames are colored, be certain that they do not clash with your lipstick shade.

Homemakers Ask And Betty Pepis Answers

Q: Over a long table in my living room I have a group of six pictures with bullfight themes. I have taken the brightest colors from these for throw pillows and accessories. Walls here need painting; what color? Draperies are blue, green and gold print, sofa is blue and rug is tan and brown tweed. Would you approve of hanging more bullfight pictures in the dining room? I have these but am afraid they will be too much.

A: By all means hang your bullfight pictures in the dining room. They will mean more to you, and will express a personal quality much more than would some picture you might buy to complete a color scheme or vary the decoration. Walls would be best in a shade of white or beige. This will provide good backdrop for bright colored pictures, relate to tones of rug.

Q: I am very happy with the new vinyl floor in my living room but am unsure about walls and drapery colors. Floor is white with pattern of black and gold. Sofa is black and silver tweed, one chair matches this, another is coral. Kitchen is visible rom living room and is painted bright aqua.

A: Best color here is white or palest grey. Alternate would be very pale aqua. Metallic accents you have could be carried into lamps of brass with white shades, white and metallic gold tweed draperies. Potted plants, colored ceramic accessories will soften and complete the room.

Q: My bedroom has beige walls, twin beds with white upholstered headboard, white bureau. I would like to introduce bright colors in curtains, spreads and change these often. Can you suggest possible choices? I would like a touch of elegance or plush. Is this suitable?

A: Bright colors and a plush luxurious air would be not only suitable but desirable. Make your bedroom as much fun to be in as possible. Make curtains and spread of inexpensive fabrics such as felt and cotton which come in wonderful colors and trim these with braid or tassels in contrasting colors. Two examples might be mustard curtains and spread trimmed in lacquer red with throw pillows in shocking pink and red. Print curtains in emerald, peacock blue with spread in peacock corduroy and pillows in lime. Accessories can provide the elegance — antique bottles, boxes, crystal and silver touches, flowers.

Look For

. . . new fabric ideas in play clothes, with denim in tank tops and brief skirts over shorts, and striped ticking patio dresses.

. . . return of the really big hat for summer, with brims that extend beyond the shoulders, in cartwheel straws and romantic pique ripples.

. . . the very long torso combined with the sharply flared skirt, for those who want something really different, not just a little bit.

. . . combination fabrics in summer patterns, from hats right down to shoes, in bold widths and bolder colors, as many as five or six.

. . . the tall pillbox hat, called a coif, with a four - tiered crown, made by folding the fabric, worn further back than its turban cousin.

. . . new fabrics for summer coats, which are fast becoming important, what with air conditioning in heavy cottons and bright burlap.

. . . nautical and sportswear look in summer sleepwear, with sailor blouses over knee-length sailor pants, shorts-'n'-stops in stripes.

. . . coats whose low skirt flare repeats the skirt flare of the costume beneath, or very wide coats over narrow sheaths.

. . . new jacket treatments on suits and costumes, with side closings, scalloped and notched edges cutaway silhouettes.

. . . new version of the two-piece costume, with the over-blouse covering a camisole topped dress that can go on to little parties.

. . . sissy shirts due for another strong summer, in fine pima cotton, now in pastels as well as white, with ruffles, lace and eyelet.

. . . the one - sided look, with white dresses striped down one side only, or with five color blocks down one side, or a row of big buttons.

. . . basic colors only when combined with spanking white, as in black - and - white prints, navy piped with white braid, beige stripes on white.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The past year is likely to go down in collecting history as that of the great invasion from Europe, reports a newsletter about "objets d'art."

It sems European dealers flocked to America to recapture at record prices art treasures and antique collections brought to Yankee - land by Europeans in decades past. The dealers returned the treasures to European art stalls and sold most of them back to Americans abroad who promptly returned them to the United States.

Tips For Women Who Wear Glasses

Women who wear glasses today no longer haves to feel that their attractiveness is being handicapped. With new, stylish frames to choose from, many women not only look attractive in glasses, but in some cases their appearance is actually improved.

To help you look your best when wearing glasses, here are a few make-up tips. Avoid exaggerated bangs. Instead, sweep your hair to one side to reveal a larger forehead area. When applying eye make-up, keep in mind that glasses draw attention to your eyes, and also, that lenses tend to magnify your make-up and emphasize any untidy applications. Therefore, be careful to apply eyeshadow, eyeliner, and mascara with expert deftness. Accentuate the arch of your eyebrows, but still keep them natural-looking. Blend rouge carefully, making sure not to concentrate the color too close to your frames. Wear earrings that are in proportion to your face. Choose glasses in the right size and shape. If frames are colored, be certain that they do not clash with your lipstick shade.

Homemakers Ask And Betty Pepis Answers

Q: Over a long table in my living room I have a group of six pictures with bullfight themes. I have taken the brightest colors from these for throw pillows and accessories. Walls here need painting; what color? Draperies are blue, green and gold print, sofa is blue and rug is tan and brown tweed. Would you approve of hanging more bullfight pictures in the dining room? I have these but am afraid they will be too much.

A: By all means hang your bullfight pictures in the dining room. They will mean more to you, and will express a personal quality much more than would some picture you might buy to complete a color scheme or vary the decoration. Wails would be best in a shade of white or beige. This will provide good backdrop for bright colored pictures, relate to tones of rug.

Q: I am very happy with the new vinyl floor in my living room but am unsure about walls and drapery colors. Floor is white with pattern of black and gold. Sofa is black and silver tweed, one chair matches this, another is coral. Kitchen is visible rom living room and is painted bright aqua.

A: Best color here is white or palest grey. Alternate would be very pale aqua. Metallic accents you have could be carried into lamps of brass with white shades, white and metallic gold tweed draperies. Potted plants, colored ceramic accessories will soften and complete the room.

Q: My bedroom has beige walls, twin beds with white upholstered headboard, white bureau. I would like to introduce bright colors in curtains, spreads and change these often. Can you suggest possible choices? I would like a touch of elegance or plush. Is this suitable?

A: Bright colors and a plush luxurious air would be not only suitable but desirable. Make your bedroom as much fun to be in as possible. Make curtains and spread of inexpensive fabrics such as felt and cotton which come in wonderful colors and trim these with braid or tassels in contrasting colors. Two examples might be mustard curtains and spread trimmed in lacquer red with throw pillows in shocking pink and red. Print curtains in emerald, peacock blue with spread in peacock corduroy and pillows in lime. Accessories can provide the elegance — antique bottles, boxes, crystal and silver touches, flowers.

Mother Might Borrow Teacher's Attitudes

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Some mothers of four or more children felt I had been unfair to the mother who asked help in keeping her flock under control. They felt she could not be compared to a nursery school teacher because she had not only the children but housework, cooking and sewing in addition.

What I meant to convey was that she should borrow the nursery school teacher's gentle attitudes and not feel that to control children one had to become a "tyrant" as this mother described herself.

It was this aspect of control which I was dwelling on. I was not trying to minimize all the obligations which fall to the lot of the mother and which the teacher may be spared.

One of my readers suggests that she has had good results with several small children by treating them with the same respect she shows her best friends.

"I expect the older children to help the younger ones to dress. The combinations you get may be surprising but it does help to take up some of the morning.

"I find a hug takes only a second but its effect lasts for hours. I am still learning, but I consider that love wins over all."

Thank you for this fine expression. No matter how many children and how exacting the housework, you do not need to use loud voices, harsh punishments in order to control children. It is all ... that they get used to. If they expect a loud voice they wait until it is forthcoming before they listen or mind.

Women who wear chignons may want to try out this elegant evening headdress. It was shown during the last Paris collections. A "feather" made of rhinestones is shaped so that it half encircles the chignon. The effect is that of a very narrow coronet.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Steady Trouble Prompts Boy To Write Letter

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a boy, 17 who is going steady with two girls. One lives in town, the other one lives 60 miles from here. They don't know about each other.

I'd rather go with the one who lives in town because I get to see her more often. My folks like the one who lives 60 miles away because they are friendly with her folks and they think it's better when families know each other.

The girl in town has my class ring. The other one has my wrist watch. One asks where my class ring is and the other one wants to know how come I am not wearing my wrist watch. I'm running out of excuses. Please give me some advice on how to handle this. Both girls are very nice. —D OF F

Dear Commuter: Now that you've told me where your ring is and where your watch is—where is your sense of honor? You'd be far better off to play it straight and enjoy the company of several young girls. Collect your jewelry and don't make your friendships so chummy from now on. Maybe you can still find your missing integrity.

Dear Ann Landers: I find it difficult to understand why you are so soft on wayward girls and unfaithful wives.

Our son returned recently from a year's tour of duty abroad. He found his wife six months pregnant by heaven knows whom. Our shock was beyond description when she told us the news. We were shocked even more when our son came home and forgave her. By so doing, he rejected his entire family.

We have moved 1700 miles away from them, thanks to my husband's understanding boss. Is it fair that we have lost our wonderful son to a girl who couldn't be a faithful wife? When our lovely teenage children ask how a wife can do what she did and still keep her husband, what can we tell them? If immoral behavior carries no penalty, why be good? I raised my son to be forebearing and loving. I have lost him to a trollop because he practiced what I preached. Is this justice? —L. W.

Dear L. W.: I don't condone your daughter-in-law's behavior but I applaud your son's forgiving heart. You raised a remarkably charitable young man and for this you deserve credit.

This was your son's decision, not yours. You should have accepted it, no matter how difficult. He didn't reject you. You rejected him. The proof of whether or not a decision is a good one is the ability to live with it and be happy. Are you happy with yours?

Dear Ann Landers: My girl friend complained that I am no gentleman and we got into a fight which ended in our breaking up. This is what happened and I'd like you to tell me if I was right or wrong.

We were driving to a party and she took a cigarette out of her purse. She sat there with it for about three minutes. Then she said icily "A gentleman always lights a lady's cigarette."

I told her not when he's driving a car. She said, "You could do it if you weren't such a stubborn mule." Well, one word led to another and we wound up not speaking. Will you settle the question? Who was right?—REX

Dear Rex: The driver of a car should not be expected to light anyone's cigarette. Safety is more important than chivalry. That split second could put you both in the hospital—or worse. You were right and she was wrong.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for "Ann Landers'" booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Burgess Says Work To Resume On State Bridge

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Highway Director Ray W. Burgess said Friday work will be resumed immediately on the Des Allemands bridge on U. S. 90 by J. B. Talley and Co., Inc.

Burgess said his investigation of irregularities had shown the Talley firm in the clear, and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads had agreed to allow the construction to be resumed.

"We have turned over all our information to local officials," Burgess said, "and the district attorney will take any further action required."

To "A Mother": This condition sounds serious to me and I would not try to do your own diagnosing but take your child to the nearest good clinic or to the best pediatrician available. This is not ordinary behavior.

Mrs. S. G. suggests that when a child receives a stuffed animal which gets dirty, naturally, and needs washing, that the mother remove all the stuffing and replace it with discarded nylon hose. Then the animal can go in the washer, hang on the line, if necessary be boiled without any danger to it. It also dries quickly. Thank you for telling us.

Why can't Johnny behave? For answers to this question and advice on how to correct undesirable behavior, send for Mrs. Eldred's booklet, "Behavior of Which Parents Disapprove." Enclose 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

'Feather'

Women who wear chignons may want to try out this elegant evening headdress. It was shown during the last Paris collections. A "feather" made of rhinestones is shaped so that it half encircles the chignon. The effect is that of a very narrow coronet.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Steady Trouble Prompts Boy To Write Letter

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a boy 17 who is going steady with two girls. One lives in town, the other one lives 60 miles from here. They don't know about each other.

I'd rather go with the one who lives in town because I get to see her more often. My folks like the one who lives 60 miles away because they are friendly with her folks and they think it's better when families know each other.

The girl in town has my class ring. The other one has my wrist watch. One asks where my class ring is and the other one wants to know how come I am not wearing my wrist watch. I'm running out of excuses. Please give me some advice on how to handle this. Both girls are very nice. —D OF F

Dear Commuter: Now that you've told me where your ring is—and where your watch is—where is your sense of honor? You'd be far better off to play it straight and enjoy the company of several young girls. Collect your jewelry and don't make your friendships so chummy from now on. Maybe you can still find your missing integrity.

Dear Ann Landers: I find it difficult to understand why you are so soft on wayward girls and unfaithful wives.

Our son returned recently from a year's tour of duty abroad. He found his wife six months pregnant by heaven knows whom. Our shock was beyond description when she told us the news. We were shocked even more when our son came home and forgave her. By so doing, he rejected his entire family.

We have moved 1700 miles away from them, thanks to my husband's understanding boss. Is it fair that we have lost our wonderful son to a girl who couldn't be a faithful wife? When our lovely teenage children ask how a wife can do what she did and still keep her husband, what can we tell them? If immoral behavior carries no penalty, why be good? I raised my son to be forebearing and loving. I have lost him to a trollop because he practiced what I preached. Is this justice? —L. W.

Dear L. W.: I don't condone your daughter-in-law's behavior but I applaud your son's forgiving heart. You raised a remarkably charitable young man and for this you deserve credit.

This was your son's decision, not yours. You should have accepted it, no matter how difficult. He didn't reject you. You rejected him. The proof of whether or not a decision is a good one is the ability to live with it and be happy. Are you happy with yours?

Dear Ann Landers: My girl friend complained that I am no gentleman and we got into a fight which ended in our breaking up. This is what happened and I'd like you to tell me if I was right or wrong.

We were driving to a party and she took a cigarette out of her purse. She sat there with it for about three minutes. Then she said icily "A gentleman always lights a lady's cigarette."

I told her not when he's driving a car. She said, "You could do it if you weren't such a stubborn mule." Well, one word led to another and we wound up not speaking. Will you settle the question? Who was right?—REX

Dear Rex: The driver of a car should not be expected to light anyone's cigarette. Safety is more important than chivalry. That split second could put you both in the hospital—or worse. You were right and she was wrong.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for "Ann Landers'" booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Burgess Says Work To Resume On State Bridge

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Highway Director Ray W. Burgess said Friday work will be resumed immediately on the Des Allemands bridge on U. S. 90 by J. B. Talley and Co., Inc.

Burgess said his investigation of irregularities had shown the Talley firm in the clear, and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads had agreed to allow the construction to be resumed.

"We have turned over all our information to local officials," Burgess said, "and the district attorney will take any further action required."

Haphazard Housekeeper Needs Organization

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How do you get a wife to be more "organized"? I realize that a woman has a lot to do with two school-aged children, but she has help one day a week and her own jalopy — and still nothing seems to get done. She washes, irons and cleans whenever she "gets around to it."

My wife is a "do-it-tomorrow" expert. I had Christmas cards printed last year and she never got around to addressing them. She was so late in sending a "Get Well Quick" card to a friend, it arrived the day he died. She is a wonderful woman, with good intentions, and she knows her faults, but she doesn't know what to do about them. Can you help me? —HER HUSBAND

DEAR ABBY: I belong to a card club that has been in existence for about nine years. We have gotten along fine and always had a good time.

About a year ago we asked a relative of one of the members to substitute. Since then she has come to every game. It makes it very difficult because we always end up with an extra player.

We would like to keep her as a substitute, but how can we tell her? The last time she came, she played all the time and one of our regulars sat out. We don't want to hurt her feelings, but what can we do? —THE CLUB

DEAR CLUB: Whoever invited her to come as a subtitute should tell her in a friendly way that she is a substitute and not a regular member. (Perhaps she doesn't realize this.) Now is the time to call a spade a spade, before she gets squatter's rights.

DEAR ABBY: Exactly how do you kiss a boy? My mother says it will come naturally, but in case it doesn't, do you have any hints? Do you stop breathing? Also, when kissing a relative, do you make a "smack" sound? Is this supposed to happen when kissing a boy? Last but not least, do you move your head or your lips? And what do you do with your nose? I am 13. —NEVER BEEN KISSED

DEAR NEVER: You do "not" stop breathing. You do "not" make a "smack" sound. And all you do with your nose is breathe through it.

French Suspend Invitation For Gagarin's Visit

PARIS (UPI) — France suspended an invitation to Maj. Yuri Gagarin Friday to visit Paris when it developed that the Russians were planning to send the spaceman here May 31, the same day President Kennedy arrives on an official visit.

The invitation to Gagarin was extended by the Union Syndicale des Industries Aeronautiques which stages the 24th Paris air show starting May 26. An invitation also was sent to American astronaut Alan B. Shepard but there was no word of acceptance.

The union declined to comment on the reason for suspending Gagarin's invitation but informed sources said the French told the Soviets their available forces might not be sufficient to guarantee the security of Kennedy and Gagarin at the same time.

The "suspension" apparently meant Gagarin would be welcomed at a later date.

London dispatches said Princess Lee Radziwill, sister of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, would arrive here June 3 to escort the First Lady to London for a two-day private visit. Mrs. Kennedy plans to spend two days in London after Kennedy completes his May 31-June 3 Paris trip.

Court Told Of Life In Death Camp

JERUSALEM (AP) — Jewish children were forced to play happily before visiting Red Cross inspectors at a Nazi death camp and sick, starving inmates were hidden, a witness at the Adolf Eichmann trial testified Friday.

Starvation and dysentery made people "die like flies" and the insane were kept naked in a stable out of sight of any visitor, German-born Mordecchai Ansbacher told the court.

Eichmann listened attentively as Ansbacher, 34, a German-born survivor of the Nazi extermination machinery, described conditions in the Theresienstadt camp in Czechoslovakia. The defendant once told interrogators the camp was planned to be a beautiful town.

Ansbacher said the camp was meant to house Jewish war veterans of World War I and prominent Jews.

"They hoped they would not be sent on to the extermination camps in the East," Ansbacher told the court. "Of course, in the end, they were sent as well."

When two Red Cross delegations visited the camp in 1944, a phantom town was set up, he testified, adding: "The ghetto was turned upside down in a beautifying operation. The houses were newly painted and giant signs were put up, saying 'central school' and 'ghetto theater.'

"They set up a special home for children with ponies and nice toys. Hearts were carved on the childrens' beds.

"Only those people who still looked like humans were allowed to show themselves on the streets."

Ansbacher said the Red Cross did not visit locked up buildings where sick and starving people almost certainly were doomed to die without medical assistance.

The testimony was introduced to describe what happened to German Jews in the extermniation campaign Israel charges was directed by Eichmann as the officer in charge of the Gestapo's Bureau for Jewish Affairs.

West Monroyan Gets 90 Days In City Court

A 90-day jail sentence was meted out in West Monroe City Court Friday to 42-year-old Frank Lattoon, West Monroe, on a charge of simple battery.

Laftoen was ordered transferred to the parish jail.

It was noted in the court records that Valerie Fields, Negro, of 725 Coleman St., West Monroe, was held in contempt of court and fined $3 or 36 hours.

Time was served from 3 p.m. May 8 until 9 a.m. May 9 and the remainder of the time was suspended.

H. M. Elmore, 63, Negro, of 601 Ludwig, West Monroe, was fined $25 or 10 days on a charge of reckless driving.

Forfeiting bond of $75 on a charge of reckless driving was Barbara L. Collum of Tucson, Ariz.

Judge John McCormick presided in court.

In other action, three persons were fined or forfeited bond on charges of disturbing the peace.

Do Geniuses Have To Go To School?

DUTCH NECK, N.J (UPI)—Do geniuses have to go to school too?

That question perplexes Magistrate A. C. Reeves Hicks, a Princeton attorney, as he sits in judgment of the case of the West Windsor Township Board of Education vs. Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Trifan, the parents of three youngsters whose IQ's range from 130 to 150. Normal is in the 90-110 range.

Hicks could sympathize with the desire of Trifan, 43, and his wife, Dorothy, 31, to teach their children at home. Yet, the law says schooling is compulsory for all children—prodigies included.

The bright children are Mariora, 11, Daniel, 9, and Richard, 7. All three are pianists and all compose music.

Trifan, an assistant professor of chemistry at Princeton University, insists that his children would learn more at home than in school.

At Thursday's session of the trial, the constitutionality of the compulsory schooling law was challenged. The Trifans' attorney asked the magistrate to rule the law invalid.

"We recognize that public school can not — even to a fractional degree — help our children to realize their full potential," Trifan testified.

Hicks will hold a final hearing next Wednesday.

FEDERAL MONEY

Passman Critical Of Education Aid

WASHINGTON (Special)—Rep. Otto Passman reaffirmed his opposition to federal school aid bills Friday, stating that "where the money goes controls will go also.."

He said the measures, which are nearing floor action in the House and Senate, are both "dangerous and unnecessary."

To support his position, Passman cited several examples. One of them was the Louisiana legislature's differences with the "federal bureaucracy" on the handling of the program for aid to dependent children.

"OR ELSE"

"While Congress has recently acted," he explained, "to extend the bureaucratic deadline for the state to comply with Washington demands, in dealing with a serious problem which clearly should be within the states' jurisdiction for decision, the fact remains that the demands must be met — or else.

"In the circumstances" he said "the state has hardly got a choice in the matter, other than to comply."

Passman asserted that, similarly, the states also would have to expect — with a build-up of financial dependence through federal aid to education — a "cracking of the central governments bureaucratic whip" over school operations.

"And federal control of the education of our young people — turning out robots in accordance with Washington blueprints — would be disastrous" he declared.

Passman added that, in addition to this "positive danger" to education, federal school aid also would result through inflation, in the "further dangerous eroding" of the value of the dollar.

"While all of us want improved programs of education," he said, "the federal aid approach is the worst possible means of attempting to achieve it."

Youth Is Booked In Hit-And-Run

A 17-year-old Monroe youth was booked on a warrant charging hit-and-run driving Friday, Monroe police reported.

He was identified as Virgil Bradberry, of 22B Louis Locke. Bradberry is accused of backing into a car owned by C. G. Pearce, of 2607 Pargould Blvd., Monroe, causing slight damage.

The incident occurred at 215 N. 2nd St., Police said.

Negro Charged In Assault Case

A Monroe Negro, Willie (Fuzzy) Robinson, was in the parish jail Friday charged with the simple rape of a Negro woman, Monroe police reported.

The woman told police she was walking near a bar at 9th and Layton when she was grabbed and dragged behind the bar and assaulted.

After a description of her assailant was given police, Robinson was found asleep in a parked car at 8th and Louisville. A witness who got a look at the woman's attacker, identified Robinson, as did the woman, police said.

French Suspend Invitation For Gagarin's Visit

PARIS (UPI) — France suspended an invitation to Maj. Yuri Gagarin Friday to visit Paris when it developed that the Russians were planning to send the spaceman here May 31, the same day President Kennedy arrives on an official visit.

The invitation to Gagarin was extended by the Union Syndicale des Industries Aeronautiques which stages the 24th Paris air show starting May 26. An invitation also was sent to American astronaut Alan B. Shepard but there was no word of acceptance.

The union declined to comment on the reason for suspending Gagarin's invitation but informed sources said the French told the Soviets their available forces might not be sufficient to guarantee the security of Kennedy and Gagarin at the same time.

The "suspension" apparently meant Gagarin would be welcomed at a later date.

London dispatches said Princess Lee Radziwill, sister of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, would arrive here June 3 to escort the First Lady to London for a two-day private visit. Mrs. Kennedy plans to spend two days in London after Kennedy completes his May 31-June 3 Paris trip.

Court Told Of Life In Death Camp

JERUSALEM (AP) — Jewish children were forced to play happily before visiting Red Cross inspectors at a Nazi death camp and sick, starving inmates were hidden, a witness at the Adolf Eichmann trial testified Friday.

Starvation and dysentery made people "die like flies" and the insane were kept naked in a stable out of sight of any visitor, German - born Mordechai Ansbacher told the court.

Eichmann listened attentively as Ansbacher, 34, a German-born survivor of the Nazi extermination machinery, described conditions in the Theresienstadt camp in Czechoslovakia. The defendant once told interrogators the camp was planned to be a beautiful town.

Ansbacher said the camp was meant to house Jewish war veterans of World War I and prominent Jews.

"They hoped they would not be sent on to the extermination camps in the East," Ansbacher told the court. "Of course, in the end, they were sent as well."

When two Red Cross delegations visited the camp in 1944, a phantom town was set up, he testified, adding: "The ghetto was turned upside down in a beautifying operation. The houses were newly painted and giant signs were put up, saying 'central school' and 'ghetto theater.'

"They set up a special home for children with ponies and nice toys. Hearts were carved on the childrens' beds.

"Only those people who still looked like humans were allowed to show themselves on the streets."

Ansbacher said the Red Cross did not visit locked up buildings where sick and starving people almost certainly were doomed to die without medical assistance.

The testimony was introduced to describe what happened to German Jews in the extermniation campaign Israel charges was directed by Eichmann as the officer in charge of the Gestapo's Bureau for Jewish Affairs.

West Monroyan Gets 90 Days In City Court

A 90-day jail sentence was meted out in West Monroe City Court Friday to 42-year-old Frank Laffoon, West Monroe, on a charge of simple battery.

Laffoon was ordered transferred to the parish jail.

It was noted in the court records that Valerie Fields, Negro, of 725 Coleman St., West Monroe, was held in contempt of court and fined $3 or 36 hours.

Time was served from 3 p.m. May 8 until 9 a.m. May 9 and the remainder of the time was suspended.

H. M. Elmore, 63, Negro, of 601 Ludwig, West Monroe, was fined $25 or 10 days on a charge of reckless driving.

Forfeiting bond of $75 on a charge of reckless driving was Barbara L. Collum of Tucson, Ariz.

Judge John McCormick presided in court.

In other action, three persons were fined or forfeited bond on charges of disturbing the peace.

JUDGE WILL DECIDE

Do Geniuses Have To Go To School?

DUTCH NECK, N.J (UPI)—Do geniuses have to go to school too?

That question perplexes Magistrate A. C. Reeves Hicks, a Princeton attorney, as he sits in judgment of the case of the West Windsor Township Board of Education vs. Dr. and Mrs. Daniel Trifan, the parents of three youngsters whose IQ's range from 130 to 150. Normal is in the 90-110 range.

Hicks could sympathize with the desire of Trifan, 43, and his wife, Dorothy, 34, to teach their children at home. Yet, the law says schooling is compulsory for all children—prodigies included.

The bright children are Mariora, 11, Daniel, 9, and Richard, 7. All three are pianists and all compose music.

Trifan, an assistant professor of chemistry at Princeton University, insists that his children would learn more at home than in school.

At Thursday's session of the trial, the constitutionality of the compulsory schooling law was challenged. The Trifans' attorney asked the magistrate to rule the law invalid.

"We recognize that public school can not — even to a fractional degree — help our children to realize their full potential," Trifan testified.

Hicks will hold a final hearing next Wednesday.

FEDERAL MONEY

Passman Critical Of Education Aid

WASHINGTON (Special)—Rep. Otto Passman reaffirmed his opposition to federal school aid bills Friday, stating that "where the money goes controls will go also.."

He said the measures, which are nearing floor action in the House and Senate, are both "dangerous and unnecessary."

To support his position, Passman cited several examples. One of them was the Louisiana legislature's differences with the "federal bureaucracy" on the handling of the program for aid to dependent children.

"OR ELSE"

"While Congress has recently acted," he explained, "to extend the bureaucratic deadline for the state to comply with Washington demands, in dealing with a serious problem which clearly should be within the states' jurisdiction for decision, the fact remains that the demands must be met — or else.

"In the circumstances" he said "the state has hardly got a choice in the matter, other than to comply."

Passman asserted that, similarly, the states also would have to expect — with a build-up of financial dependence through federal aid to education — a "cracking of the central governments bureaucratic whip" over school operations.

"And federal control of the education of our young people — turning out robots in accordance with Washington blueprints — would be disastrous" he declared.

Passman added that, in addition to this "positive danger" to education, federal school aid also would result through inflation, in the "further dangerous eroding" of the value of the dollar.

"While all of us want improved programs of education," he said, "the federal aid approach is the worst possible means of attempting to achieve it."

Youth Is Booked In Hit-And-Run

A 17 - year - old Monroe youth was booked on a warrant charging hit - and run driving Friday, Monroe police reported.

He was identified as Virgil Bradberry, of 22B Louis Locke. Bradberry is accused of backing into a car owned by C. G. Pearce, of 2607 Pargould Blvd., Monroe, causing slight damage.

The incident occurred at 215 N. 2nd St., Police siad.

Negro Charged In Assault Case

A Monroe Negro, Willie (Fuzzy) Robinson, was in the parish jail Friday charged with the simple rape of a Negro woman, Monroe police reported.

The woman told police she was walking near a bar at 9th and Layton when she was grabbed and dragged behind the bar and assaulted.

After a description of her assailant was given police, Robinson was found asleep in a parked car at 8th and Louisville. A witness who got a look at the woman's attacker, identified Robinson, as did the woman, police said.

Stocks Move Up Slightly On Average

NEW YORK (UPI) — Price movements on the New York Stock Exchange Friday were as indecisive as they've been all week — up slightly on average but virtually every group having its share of minis signs

Defense stocks, airlines and low-priced issues provided most of the upside interest. "Quality" industrial issues remained dull and confined to narrow changes.

The big story unfolded on the American Exchange where activity, rising all year long, zoomed to a whopping 5,430,000 shares and actually outran the "big board" volume of 4,840,000. Activity on the American rose nearly 600,000 shares above Thursday, but trading on the major market place plunged 330,000 shares in cautious pre-weekend dealings.

It was among the very rare times that American volume finished ahead of the New York. Friday was also a record that dated back to the crash of Oct. 29, 1929, when volume came to over 7 million.

As measured by the Dow-Jones industrial average, prices on the New York Stock Exchange rose 1.42 points to 687.91, rails gained 0.24 to 144.77 and utilities added 0.42 to 113.02. The much-broader Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks rose 6 cents for the average price of a single stock.

The market breakdown of 1,297 issues traded showed 632 gainers, 106 to new highs and 433 losers, 5 to new lows.

Studebaker - Packard was the most active stock with 100,700 shares, up 1/8 point to 8. Following were Graham-Paige up 1/4 to 2 3/4, Continental Airlines up 1/2 to 11 5/8, Sperry Rand up 3/4 to 34 3/4 and Raytheon up 1 1/8 to 40 7/8.

Also placing on the 15 most active list were Publicker Industries, off 1 1/8 to 12 5/8 and Avnet, off 1 5/8 to 54 3/4. Twelve of the top 15 closed higher and three, including Ampex off 7/8, were lower.

On the American Exchange where prices were pretty mixed, Technicolor rose 1 3/8 to 39 7/8, Hazeltine rose 1 3/8 to 47 7/8 and Gulton gained 1 1/4 to 68 1/4.

DR. J. CLAUDE Earnest of Monroe was installed as president of the Louisiana Dental Association at their meeting held in Lafayette. He has practiced in Monroe since 1945 and is past president of the Fifth District Dental Society and served as secretary - treasurer, vice president and a member of the board of governors.

Steel Industry Output Gaining At Smart Pace

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel business is picking up smartly, and industry leaders expect a moderate production pace the balance of 1961.

The industry's comeback from its latest slump—which started in the second quarter last year—has gained real momentum in recent weeks.

Many open hearths and other steelmaking furnaces have been pressed back into service. Thousands of furloughed basic steelworkers are working again.

Signs of recovery appeared as early as last February, but the improvement was slight and erratic week after week. Then a definite upward spiral began.

In the final week of March, production hit 1,632,000 tons or approximately 57 per cent of estimated annual capacity. Last week the industry poured 1,943,000 tons at an operating rate of about 68 per cent.

Second Soviet Manned Flight Is Predicted

VIENNA (UPI)—A second Soviet manned space flight, possibly by two or more astronauts, will take place soon, Radio Warsaw predicted Friday.

Radio Warsaw said its information was based on predictions by "Moscow scientific circles."

According to Soviet scientific experts, the broadcast said, the new flight will be much more advanced technically and scientifically than the first one.

One of the astronauts to make the trip probably would be Major Yuri Gagarin since he was the only Soviet citizen who has had practical experience in space, the broadcast added.

It is also possible, it said, that the second Soviet flight will circle the earth several times instead of just once. In that case, it added, the astronauts would have to remain in orbit for more than 10 hours.

Forestry Magazine Wins High Award

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices worked into a firm range at the start of trading Friday on the Board of Trade and held it to the close although old crop soybeans were under moderate pressure at times.

Corn had the steadiest support and ended with gains of well over a cent in spots on buying described as including a good volume of the investment type. Brokers said it apparently was related to reports of a recent broadening of cooperation with the emergency feed grain law for curtailing production.

Soybeans finished ¼-2¼ cents a bushel higher, May 3.13¼-12¾; wheat ⅛ lower to ¾ higher, May $1.86½; corn ¾-1⅝ higher, May $1.14; oats ¼-⅝ higher, May 67⅞-⅜; rye 1⅜ - 2¼ higher, May $1.16½.

CHICAGO (AP) — Butcher hog prices were steady to 25 cents a hundredweight higher Friday but the top held at $17.75 for the fifth day this week.

With trade active, the mixed No. 1 and 2 grades scaling 190-225 lbs brought $17.50-17.75 and the 190-240 lb mixed 1-3 and 2-3 grades $16.50-16.75. Heavier weights cleared at $15.25-16.75 and sows at $13-15.40.

The week's supply of 39,500 head compared with 38,000 last week.

Offerings of slaughter steers and heifers were too meager for a test of prices. A few good vealers moved at $25-28 and some utility and commercial bulls at $18-20.

A few good and choice 80 lb old crop slaughter lambs went at $16 on a virtually nominal sheep market.

Stocks Move Up Slightly On Average

NEW YORK (UPI) — Price movements on the New York Stock Exchange Friday were as indecisive as they've been all week — up slightly on average but virtually every group having its share of minis signs.

Defense stocks, airlines and low-priced issues provided most of the upside interest. "Quality" industrial issues remained dull and confined to narrow changes.

The big story unfolded on the American Exchange where activity, rising all year long, zoomed to a whopping 5,430,000 shares and actually outran the "big board" volume of 4,840,000. Activity on the American rose nearly 600,000 shares above Thursday, but trading on the major market place plunged 330,000 shares in cautious pre-weekend dealings.

It was among the very rare times that American volume finished ahead of the New York. Friday was also a record that dated back to the crash of Oct. 29, 1929, when volume came to over 7 million.

As measured by the Dow-Jones industrial average, prices on the New York Stock Exchange rose 1.42 points to 687.91, rails gained 0.24 to 144.77 and utilities added 0.42 to 113.02. The much-broader Standard & Poor's index of 500 stocks rose 6 cents for the average price of a single stock.

The market breakdown of 1,297 issues traded showed 632 gainers, 106 to new highs and 433 losers, 5 to new lows.

Studebaker - Packard was the most active stock with 100,700 shares, up ⅛ point to 8. Following were Graham-Paige up ¼ to 2¾, Continental Airlines up ½ to 11⅞, Sperry Rand up ¾ to 34¾ and Raytheon up 1⅛ to 40⅜.

Also placing on the 15 most active list were Publicker Industries, off 1⅛ to 12⅝ and Avnet, off 1⅜ to 54¾. Twelve of the top 15 closed higher and three, including Ampex off ⅞, were lower.

On the American Exchange where prices were pretty mixed, Technicolor rose 1⅜ to 39⅞, Hazeltine rose 1⅜ to 47⅞ and Gulton gained 1¼ to 68¼.

Steel Industry Output Gaining At Smart Pace

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Steel business is picking up smartly, and industry leaders expect a moderate production pace the balance of 1961.

The industry's comeback from its latest slump—which started in the second quarter last year—has gained real momentum in recent weeks.

Many open hearths and other steelmaking furnaces have been pressed back into service. Thousands of furloughed basic steelworkers are working again.

Signs of recovery appeared as early as last February, but the improvement was slight and erratic week after week. Then a definite upward spiral began.

In the final week of March, production hit 1,632,000 tons or approximately 57 per cent of estimated annual capacity. Last week the industry poured 1,943,000 tons at an operating rate of about 68 per cent.

Second Soviet Manned Flight Is Predicted

VIENNA (UPI)—A second Soviet manned space flight, possibly by two or more astronauts, will take place soon, Radio Warsaw predicted Friday.

Radio Warsaw said its information was based on predictions by "Moscow scientific circles."

According to Soviet scientific experts, the broadcast said, the new flight will be much more advanced technically and scientifically than the first one.

One of the astronauts to make the trip probably would be Major Yuri Gagarin since he was the only Soviet citizen who has had practical experience in space, the broadcast added.

It is also possible, it said, that the second Soviet flight will circle the earth several times instead of just once. In that case, it added, the astronauts would have to remain in orbit for more than 10 hours.

Forestry Magazine Wins High Award

CHICAGO (AP) — The International Council of Industrial Editors Friday presented one of its top awards to the official magazine of the Louisiana Forestry Association, "Forests People."

The quarterly publication, edited by Ed Kerr of Alexandria, was judged second in the nation along more than 650 industrial and association periodicals carrying 25-75 per cent advertising.

At the close of the council's 20th anniversary convention, judges said highlights of the magazine included its photographs, news and feature balance, writing style and make-up.

He has practiced in Monroe since 1945 and is past president of the Fifth District Dental Society and served as secretary - treasurer, vice president and a member of the board of governors.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

The Civil War was a month old on May 14, 1861, and the North was demanding action — fast action.

"On to Richmond" was beginning to be heard in the land and the chorus would swell in the next two months and force the military men to march into battle against their better judgment.

Enough troops had arrived in Washington to guarantee its safety against any marauding band of Confederate cavalry with more courage than discretion, although President Lincoln could see a Secession flag flying across the Potomac in Alexandria, Va., by looking out the White House office window.

Sometimes he sat with his feet propped on the window sill, resting a telescope between the toes o fhis big boots, and looked at the Stars and Bars, a red flag to him.

THREAT

The heights of Arlington, Va., would make ideal gun emplacements for 30 brand new Dahlgren cannons, captured by the Confederates at the Norfolk (Va.) Navy Yard, to batter the White House. Treasury or any other public building in the capital if the southerners could find carriages and set them up.

The military men had all that in mind, but Virginia officially had not voted for secession and would not until May 23. Lincoln hesitated to throw troops across the Potomac until the people had voted, although the state had concluded a military agreement with the Confederacy on April 24 and the vote was merely a formality.

With troops rallying to the colors in numbers greater than Lincoln had asked in his proclamation, a grand plan to subdue the South seemed to be in order. Many were forthcoming. Everybody seemed to have one, the general idea being that the sooner a "plan" was adopted, the sooner the war would be over. That was the one point everyone in the North could agree on.

'SQUEEZE SOUTH

Out of this welter came three general plans, more or less precise and detailed.

First was the "Anaconda" plan of Lt. Gen Winfield Scott, commander-in-chief of the Army. As the name implied Scott's plan was to defeat the South by squeezing it to death. He advocated a tight sea blockade of the entire Confederate coast, 1,500-mile stretch. This had been ordered by Lincoln on April 19 and gradually was beginning to come into being as commercial steamers, ferry boats, yachts and any ship that could carry a gun were being pressed into service.

The other main part of Scott's plan was to send a big army — about 85,000 men — down the Mississippi River reinforced by gunboats and split off the Old South from the cereals and meat of Texas and Arkansas. He would keep a holding army before Washington. Thus, he reasoned, the South would be strangled by the spring of 1862. Scott was convinced that the South would fight hard, hence the strangulation policy was more economical of men and treasure than pitched battles.

McCLELLAN'S PLAN

Maj. Gen. George B. McClellan, raising an army in Ohio, heard of Scott's plan and submitted one of his own. He would send an army of 80,000 from Ohio up the Kanawha Valley across the mountains and hit Richmond on the flank. Another army of equal size would march south from Louisville or Cincinnati toward Nashville, a key point in the mid-South.

Presumably he expected to command at least one of these armies.

Postmaster General Montgomery Blair had a more imaginative plan if not the best. Blair, a Union man from Maryland and son of F. P. Blair, one of President Andrew Jackson's advisers, was convinced that only a crust of the southerners would fight and that the rest were ready to revolt and come back to the Union. He wrote:

"My suggestion has been that we should at once organize a southern army . . . and menace Norfolk and Richmond (Va.). The band of marauders that now pervade the state of Virginia would then rush to meet the threatened invasion, the people of Virgina would speak their real minds at the approaching election and their votes . . . would drive the marauders out of the state."

Blair did not specify how and with what the North could mount such an offensive in the few weeks before Virginia would vote on secession.

SCOTT'S FAVORED

Lincoln seemed to lean to Scott's plan as indicated by his ordering of the blockade. But Lincoln had other worries at the moment. He must pacify and hold Maryland in the Union and prevent Kentucky and Missouri from seceding. Arkansas had gone over to the Confederacy on May 6 and North Carolina left the Union May 20. Tennessee would go June 8, but Lincoln still pinned his hopes for saving that state on the preponderance of Union sentiment in the eastern counties.

Scott strangled McClellan's plan and Blair's seems to have gone almost unnoticed. The cabinet strung along with Scott. His plan seemed to offer the most for the least expenditure of men and money.

The general outline of Scott's "Anaconda" plan eventually was used by the Union to defeat the South. The sea blockade, reinforced by capture of several strategic harbors early in the war, effectively cut off the South from the rest of the world.

Gen. Ulysses S. Grant broke the Mississippi line at Vicksburg, Union forces pierced Tennessee early in the war and held on and Gen. William T. Sherman devastated the mid-South and crippled the Confederate supply line — all movements that were embraced or contemplated in the "Anaconda" plan. But all this took four years to accomplish, not the few months Scott had hoped.

The 80,000 - men armies which Scott and McClellan suggested would grow to far bigger figures, and instead of the two or three armies they visualized there would be a dozen. The 80,000 figure seemed to be the limit of Scott's and McClellan's comprehension of the size of armies — a limitation readily understandable, for Scott had never commanded more than 25,000 in the field and McClellan never even had commanded a regiment.

The chief weak point in Scott's plan, military men agree, was that his target was holding territory rather than the destruction of the Confederate armies, the objective Grant saw early in the war and pursued to victory.

The Confederates captured about 150,000 muskets from the Union army during the Civil War.

Percussion caps of the kind used in the Civil War were invented in 1805 by a Scottish clergyman but did not come into general use for 30 years.

---

Besides Robert E. Lee, 10 other General Lees fought in the Civil War, five for the South and five for the North. Alphabetically, they were: Maj. Gen. Albert L. of New York and Kansas, Union; Brig. Gen. Edward M. of New Jersey, Union; Brig. Gen. Edwin G. of Virginia, no kin to Robert E., C.S.A.; Maj. Gen. Fitzhugh, Robert E. Lees' nephew, C.S.A.; Maj. Gen. G. W. C. Robert E. Lee's oldest son, G. S. A; Brig. Gen. Horace C. of Massachusetts, Union; Brig. Gen. John C. of Ohio, Union; Lt. Gen. Stephen D., South Carolina, no kin to Robert E., C.S.A.; Maj. Gen. W.H.F., Robert E. Lee's second son, C.S.A.; and Brig. Gen. William R. OF Massachusetts, Union.

THIS WAS THE CIVIL WAR

By MERTON T. AKERS
United Press International

The Civil War was a month old on May 14, 1861, and the North was demanding action — fast action.

"On to Richmond" was beginning to be heard in the land and the chorus would swell in the next two months and force the military men to march into battle against their better judgment.

Enough troops had arrived in Washington to guarantee its safety against any marauding band of Confederate cavalry with more courage than discretion, although President Lincoln could see a Secession flag flying across the Potomac in Alexandria, Va., by looking out the White House office window.

Sometimes he sat with his feet propped on the window sill, rested a telescope between the toes of his big boot and looked at the Stars and Bars, a red flag to him.

THREAT

SQUEEZE SOUTH

McCLELLAN'S PLAN

SCOTT'S FAVORED

the name implied Scott's plan was to defeat the South by squeezing it to death. He advocated a tight sea blockade of the entire Confederate coast, 1,500-mile stretch. This had been ordered by Lincoln on April 19 and gradually was beginning to come into being as commercial steamers, ferry boats, yachts and any ship that could carry a gun were being pressed into service.

The other main part of Scott's plan was to send a big army — about 85,000 men — down the Mississippi River reinforced by gunboats and split off the Old South from the cereals and meat of Texas and Arkansas. He would keep a holding army before Washington. Thus, he reasoned, the South would be strangled by the spring of 1862. Scott was convinced that the South would fight hard. Hence the strangulation policy was more economical of men and treasure than pitched battles.

preponderance of Union sentiment in the eastern counties.

Scott strangled McClellan's plan and Blair's seems to have gone almost unnoticed. The cabinet strung along with Scott. His plan seemed to offer the most for the least expenditure of men and money.

The general outline of Scott's "Anaconda" plan eventually was used by the Union to defeat the South. The sea blockade, reinforced by capture of several strategic harbors early in the war, effectively cut off the South from the rest of the world.

Gen. Ulysses S. Grant broke the Mississippi line at Vicksburg. Union forces pierced Tennessee early in the war and held on and Gen. William T. Sherman devastated the mid-South and crippled the Confederate supply line — all movements that were embraced or contemplated in the "Anaconda" plan. But all this took four years to accomplish, not the few months Scott had hoped.

The 80,000 - men armies which Scott and McClellan suggested would grow to far bigger figures and instead of the two or three armies they visualized there would be a dozen. The 80,000 figure seemed to be the limit of Scott's and McClellan's comprehension of the size of armies — a limitation readily understandable, for Scott had never commanded more than 25,000 in the field and McClellan never even had commanded a regiment.

The chief weak point in Scott's plan, military men agree, was that his target was holding territory rather than the destruction of the Confederate armies, the objective Grant saw early in the war and pursued to victory.

The Confederates captured about 150,000 muskets from the Union army during the Civil War.

Percussion caps of the kind used in the Civil War were invented in 1805 by a Scottish clergyman but did not come into general use for 30 years.

Besides Robert E. Lee, 10 other General Lees fought in the Civil War, five for the South and five for the North. Alphabetically, they were: Maj. Gen. Albert L. of New York and Kansas, Union; Brig. Gen. Edward M. of New Jersey, Union; Brig. Gen. Edwin G. of Virginia, no kin to Robert E., C.S.A.; Maj. Gen. Fitzhugh, Robert E. Lee's nephew, C.S.A.; Maj. Gen. G. W. C., Robert E. Lee's oldest son, C.S.A.; Brig. Gen. Horace C. of Massachusetts, Union; Brig. Gen. John C. of Ohio, Union; Lt. Gen. Stephen D. of South Carolina, no kin to Robert E., C.S.A.; Maj. Gen. W.H.F., Robert E. Lee's second son, C.S.A., and Brig. Gen. William R. of Massachusetts, Union.
